Whitney Help Fired for Refusal to 'Donate', Charge

JURY REPORT BARES NEW EVIDENCE

Record of Fund Shortage Probe in Recorder's Office Is Filed

AIDES' STORY TOLD

Official Borrowed Cash From Helpers, Says One of Deputies

Mrs. Mabel Wilkinson and Mrs. Dorothy Lutz Kolkhorst, copyists in the county recorder's office, were dismissed after they had openly refused to contribute a portion of their salaries to make up the shortage for which Miss Justice Whitney, county recorder for the past 20 years, was indicted by the grand jury Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Whitney, who was arrested late Wednesday on the secret indictment charging her with 32 felony counts of misappropriating county funds and failure to make a proper accounting to the auditor, was back in her office today, having secured her liberty by posting a $2500 bond immediately after her arrest.

Revealed in Transcript

Dismissal of the two copyists and their re-employment after the grand jury investigation started was revealed today when a transcript of the grand jury investigation was filed with County Clerk J. M. Backs.

It also was revealed that Mrs. Wilkinson testified she brought the rumored shortage to the attention of the board of supervisors when she called at the home of John C. Mitchell, chairman of the board, Nov. 10 and informed him that there were rumors of a shortage and that employes of the office were being asked to help cover the amount due the county.

Loyalty Questioned

According to the testimony of Mrs. Wilkinson, she was notified not to report for work Monday, Nov. 21, but on that Monday she was told to return to work the following day. Miss Whitney told her, Mrs. Wilkinson testified, that she was not dismissed for refusing to contribute funds to cover the shortage but because Miss Whitney felt that some of the girls were not loyal and "it hurt her feelings." She testified she also was told that "some of the girls talked too much outside."

Mrs. Wilkinson told the grand jury she was first asked to contribute money to cover a shortage in the office on Nov. 8. The request, she said, came through Mrs. Elsa Conliffe, a deputy in the office. It was suggested that employes contribute three-quarters of their salaries for the month. The shortage, Mrs. Wilkinson said, was approximately $1700.

Gave Once Before

That girls in the office had contributed at least on one other occasion was revealed in testimony of R. C. Mize, Santa Ana, deputy registrar in the office in charge of all Torrens title work.

He told the grand jury, according to the transcript, that in 1934 Miss Whitney had borrowed a total of $700 from girls in the

EAST GOING TO PRISON FOR PARTY

Hospital Inmate Who Went On Spree Is Sentenced Here

ADMITS HIS GUILT

Left Custody To Take Nurses And Orderly To Night Club

The party trail ended today for Arthur East, county hospital prisoner, when his probation was revoked by Presiding Judge James L. Allen in superior court, and he was sentenced to San Quentin prison for a term of one to 10 years.

After staunchly denying that he had taken two young and pretty practical nurses and an orderly from the county hospital, where he was serving a six months term as probation on a check charge, on a party to the Biltmore Bowl Oct. 12, East today admitted the party when confronted with evidence.

Copy Of Check Shown

The evidence was a photostatic copy of a check East issued to the Biltmore Bowl for $26.55 in payment for the party. The check was returned because of insufficient funds and later made good by East's mother.

The two nurses and the orderly are no longer employed at the hospital, having been dismissed by Dr. Harry Zaiser, superintendent, when he was informed of the affair. Alan Brede, the orderly, denied today he was dismissed and declared he resigned Nov. 20.

Explains Denials

When confronted with the check today, East said previous details of having ever left the hospital were made "to protect the nurses and Brede as I knew it would cost them their jobs."

Miss Cecelia Griggs and Miss Zola Orth, the nurses involved, testified last week when the case was first called to the court's attention, that East had taken thm on the party and that he appeared intoxicated when they reached the cafe in Los Angeles. Brede testified that East had drunk a quantity of wine at the hospital before leaving for Los Angeles.

According to Miss Griggs, East became so intoxicated during the evening of dancing and drinking

Miss Whitney Should Tell

(EDITORIAL)

LET'S get to the bottom of this unfortunate affair in the county recorder's office. The grand jury has returned an indictment against Miss Justine Whitney, accusing her as county recorder, of failure to make proper accounting of funds collected by her office.

Miss Whitney's attorney, S. B. Kaufman, the former district attorney, asks that she be not required to appear before the grand jury. Why?

Mr. Kaufman, speaking for his client, issued statements in which he said she would welcome a full and complete investigation. If that is so, the grand jury is the proper inquisitorial body, as we see it.

There is much ugly rumor about others being involved. County Auditor Lambert asserts Miss Whitney's accounts are square with his office. They were made so, evidently, after Supervisor N. E. West wrote a letter to the grand jury advising its members that the the board of supervisors had been told she was delinquent in making her report. Where did she get the money to make her settlement?

Has this ever happened before? If so, how often and who, besides Miss Whitney, is or are to blame?

If Miss Whitney is innocent of wrong doing, she ought to tell the whole story to the grand jury now. It is hardly sportsmanlike to make a woman suffer alone if there are others who should share the responsibility.

FIND BODY OF DIVORCEE

Suspect's Former Wife Shot And Beaten To Death In Culvert

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, Nov. 29. (AP)—Miss Mildred Hook, 22, Tacoma, Wash., whose body was found in a culvert under the railroad track near Berger, Idaho, today, was shot and beaten to death.

Deputy Sheriff Oris Cryder said a bullet which was taken from the girl's body was of the same calibre as those fired from a pistol owned by Douglas Van Vlack, Miss Hook's divorced hlsband, who is held here on a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of State Highway Patrolman Fontaine Cooper.

Taken From Jail

Van Vlack, was whisked from the Twin Falls county jail by Sheriff E. F. Prather half an hour after the discovery of his former wife's body.

The sheriff said the prisoner would be placed in some other jail near here while he attended Cooper's funeral this afternoon at Lava Hot Springs, east of here. Van Vlack had not been informed of the discovery of the body.

Sheriff Prater said he did not fear violence against Van Vlack, but that in his absence he did not wish to leave the responsibility for his safety on his deputies.

CLIPPER SHIP FINDS GOAL

Flying Boat Arrives At Manila On Inaugural Flight To Orient

MANILA, Nov. 29. (AP)—A 25-ton flying boat, Pan-American Airways' China Clipper, brought the first transpacific airmail to Manila today.

In 60 hours of flying time, stretched to a leisurely six-day voyage by a Thanksgiving day stopover at Guam, the big ship completed her epochal 8000-mile flight in a riot of official and popular welcome.

A fast steamer, leaving San Francisco bay with the Clipper last Friday would arrive 18 days hence.

Crowds on Hand

As the Clipper glided to an easy landing at 3:31 p. m., today (11:31 p. m., Thursday Santa Ana time) army and navy airplanes roared around her. Crowds thundered applause from the shores of Manila bay.

It was the second history-making event in two weeks for the Philippine islands. The new Philippine commonwealth was inaugurated Nov. 15.

Officials Watch

Manual Quezon, president of the commonwealth, watched from a nearby housetop with Frank Murphy, United States high commissioner, as the Clipper taxied to a landing float and the crew, led by Capt. Edwin C. Musick, debarked.

OPTIMISM IS KEYNOTE OF ADDRESS

'We Are Solvent Today' Executive Tells Large Homecoming Crowd

'LIFE HAS IMPROVED'

'Fool's Paradise Years' Compared To Present By President

ATLANTA, Nov. 29. (AP)—President Roosevelt said today the government had "passed the peak of appropriations" and can "look forward with assurance to a decreasing deficit" without new taxes.

Addressing the great throng gathered on Grant field for the Georgia homecoming celebration in his honor, he also spoke of the drive to provide work relief for 3,500,000 persons being near its goal—with 3,125,000 on the job.

'Credit Is Higher'

Contrasting conditions today with "those fool's paradise years before the crash," the President evidenced optimism. He contended "the credit of the government is today higher than that of any other great nation."

In the dark days of 1933, he said, great bankers told him the government could stand a debt of from 55 to 70 billion. Today, he added, it stands at 29½ billions, including one and one-half billions of working balance and four and a half billions of recoverable assets.

'In Black Again'

Looking at the broader economic picture, he recalled that in 1933 the nation's debts—public and private—exceeded its assets. Since then, he continued, the debt burden has been cut while values have increased so that "today we are once more in the black."

"We were insolvent; today we are solvent," Mr. Roosevelt concluded.

He did not mention his critic, Governor Talmadge of Georgia.

Discusses Debt

Discussing the rise in the national debt, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"Into the ears of many of you have been dinned the cry that your government is piling up an unconscionable and backbreaking debt."

Then he told for the first time that in a talk "with many of the great bankers" who "flocked to Washington" in the crisis of 1933, these financiers agreed the gov-

'YOU AND I'

ATLANTA, Nov. 29. (AP) — The expression "you and I" was added to such platform Roosevelt isms as "fellow citizens" and "my friends" in the Georgia homecoming address of the President today.

Mr. Roosevelt used "you and I" eight times in his prepared speech of about 2500 words.

LAVAL WARNS ITALIANS

Says Attack Against Britain Would Be Counted Threat

(Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Authoritative sources disclosed today that Premier Laval of France had warned Italy directly and officially that an unprovoked attack by Italy against Great Britain would be considered an attack against France.

His warning, described as a virtual ultimatum, was delivered to Ambassador Vittorio Cerruti of Italy in Paris.

Laval took his action, it was said, after Sir George Russell Clerk, British ambassador, asked the French premier to remind Italy directly that all members of the League of Nations were standing together to resist attacks.

Embargo Meeting

The meeting of the League of Nations committee of 18 to consider imposition of an oil embargo against Italy was set today for Dec. 12.

Youth Near Death From Rifle Wound Parent Arrested

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 29. (AP)—Jesse Livermore, jr., 15, son of the sensational Wall Street trader, was near death today from a rifle bullet wound inflicted by his mother, Dorothea Livermore, in a drunken argument.

The shooting, Undersheriff Jack Ross said, was the climax of several hours of drinking and quarreling, the youth daring his mother to shoot him after she had told him she would rather see him dead than drink to excess.

"Go ahead and shoot," Ross quoted the boy as saying after he had brought a .22-calibre rifle into the livingroom of the Livermore's Montecito mansion.

D. B. Neville, a guest at the home, said he heard a shot and rushed into the room to find the boy on the floor, with the rifle in Mrs. Livermore's hands.

Dr. Neville Ussher, who was called to the home, said Mrs. Livermore, divorced wife of the speculator, hysterically cried: "I've shot my boy."

Surgeons prepared to operate on the youth at a hospital in an effort to remove the bullet, but his condition became so grave he was placed under an opiate. Little hope was held for his rocovery, and attendants said death appeared to be "merely a matter of hours."

Course of Bullet

The bullet entered the youth's chest, coursed downward through his liver, and stopped near the sprine.

The boy's father, informed at St. Louis of the shooting, said he would leave at once for Santa Barbara.

Ross said both Livermore and his mother had been drinking.

"I was notified of the shooting by Dr. Neville Ussher, who was summoned to the Livermore home by a guest who witnessed the shooting. I went to the hospital, where I ascertained that both Livermore and his mother were intoxicated.

Mother Still Intoxicated

"Mrs. Livermore was placed under arrest at the hospital, with a guard at her bedside. She is still too intoxicated to talk. From what I learned in talking to a guest at the home, D. Nevelle, the mother and her son became engaged in an argument over his drinking.

"Mrs. Livermore told the boy she would rather see him dead than drink to excess. The boy went to a closet, got a .22, single action rifle, and handed it to her, saying: 'Well, here you are.' Mrs. Livermore took the rifle and fired. The bullet entered the boy's chest."

The youth is being attended by Dr. Ussher and Dr. Irving Wills.

Brother Is Absent

The boy's brother, Paul, 12, was in a guest cottage at the Montecito estate at the time of the shooting and did not witness it.

The butler also told officers he was not near the portion of the house where it occured.

District Attorney Percy Eckendorf and Ross went to Mrs. Livermore's room in the hospital later this morning to take a statement from her, after hospital authorities informed them the woman appeared to be speaking rationally.

Woman Admits Act

Ross said the woman told Dr. Ussher she fired the shot, but he pointed out that "she was too drunk to be responsible at the time she made the statement."

Very little was known about the witness to the shooting, D. Neville. Authorities said he was a guest at Mrs. Livermore's home and that they understood he came here from Hollywood. They said they understood he was connected with motion pictures, in some ca-

MOTHERS CRY 'SHAME' AT SHOOTING

Santa Ana Women Rise Up In Protest Over Santa Barbara Case

By MARY STODDARD

Inviolate mother love was defiled today.

And mothers of Santa Ana rose in sorrowful protest to cry "shame" at the woman who dared to forget her trust as a mother—a woman who defamed the God-given charge of guiding her 15-year-old son to right living.

They grieved over Mrs. Jesse Livermore, the drink-soddened Santa Barbara woman, whose befuddled mind could offer her son only death as an escape from the liquor which she felt would obsess him.

Mothers Pity Her

Mothers who had believed in their boys, though the world convicted them of murder, and took their lives, pitied her. Mothers in limousines and mothers over wash tubs, mourned her sin. Mothers, whose sons sat in fame or the gutter, could not believe her transgression.

"It wasn't the mother in her that let her shoot her boy, probably fatally, they mourned. And tonight as they tuck extra blankets around their babies, a soft tear is likely to fall in sympathy for the woman's unhappiness when she awakens to the horror of her deed.

"I'd rather see you dead than

Remember What You Were Talking About?

Editor's Note: No doubt you have often wondered what people were talking about as you passed them on the street and heard snatches of conversation. The Journal today sent Roch Bradshaw out on the street to record some of this conversation. Perhaps you who read may recognize yourselves and recall your conversation.

By ROCH BRADSHAW

"We took a beer bottle and a pile of matches" . . . "I'll tell her, the little double crosser!" . . . "And the pipe organ boomed out like thunder" . . . "He offered me $50 a month and I said . . . "

Just a sample of the conversational hash that was being dished up on Santa Ana streets today. You stand on a corner and listen. The voices grow louder as they approach, and then fade out. Thanksgiving is past history today. Life is going on in its jerky, intense way. If folks were thankful for anything yesterday, they've forgotten it today.

"We'll be eating turkey hash for a week!" It was a fat woman at Fourth and Main streets speaking.

Another man on a corner, with clear brown eyes looking from behind a pair of glasses, talking to a fellow with receding hair: "They're the most ignorant bunch . . . if the district attorney tells them, they'll believe it . . . "

Down the street a couple of blocks a slim, middle-aged man in a faded gray hat calls out, "Hey! You'll knock that tile down on your head!" A man at the edge of the steep tile roof of the West Coast theater grins and goes on working.

A group of ousiness men in the city hall. One of them asks, "Did you hear how Riverside and Chaffee came out?" A buzz of talk all at once. A short, heavy set man: "There wasn't a bit of interference. They gave the game away."

Another group in the city hall. A round faced man, also with sparse hair: "Pete'll do anything you tell him. He'll say, 'What's the number?', then he'll call up and give somebody hell . . . "

"Look at her go! I'll bet she cost a hundred dollars!"

SEVENTEEN INJURED IN COUNTY'S HOLIDAY TRAFFIC CRASHES

FIVE HURT IN SMASHUP AT ORANGE

Three Local Accidents Wound 7; San Diego Woman In Wreck

At least 17 persons were injured yesterday, none seriously, as the result of traffic accidents on Orange county highways. Three of the accidents occurred in Santa Ana, resulting in injury to seven persons.

Five persons were injured at 6:15 p. m. yesterday when a car driven by George L. Carr, 27, 221 South Orange street, Orange, crashed into the side of a car operated by L. D. Gist, 28, 544 North Lemon street, Orange, as he was backing out of a driveway on West Chapman avenue near highway 101. The injured are Mr. Gist, his wife, Mrs. Redda Gist, 29, their two children, Flora, 4 and Leon, 9, and Jack Brown, 335 East Chapman avenue, Orange. All were taken to the Orange county hospital for first aid treatment.

Crash Near San Juan

Miss Emma Schwind, 72, San Diego, suffered slight injuries at 10 p. m. yesterday when the car in which she was riding collided with a machine driven by H. W. Lash, Los Angeles. The accident occurred near San Juan Capistrano when a car driven by Miss Gertrude Weindenhoff, 28, San Diego, went off the highway, and crashed into the rear of Mr. Lash's car.

A collision yesterday at 5:54 a. m. at Seventeenth street and Broadway, Santa Ana, between cars driven by Sarah Cabrara, 29, San Diego, and Edward Kuykendall, 36, 211 South Birch street, Santa Ana, resulted in slight injury to both drivers and to Domingo Cabrara, 43, and Jobita Cabrara, 14.

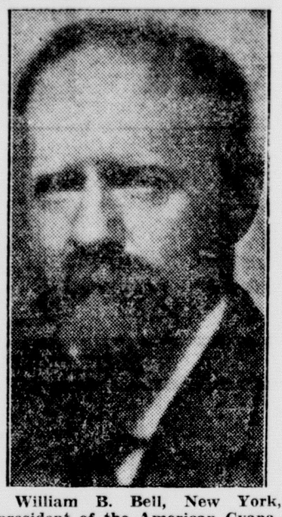

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Mathews, 1118 West Third street, Santa Ana, were hurt at noon yesterday when Mr. Mathews' car collided with a second machine at Seventeenth and Main streets. Officers are investigating in an effort to establish the identity of the second driver.

Jesus Cruz, Costa Mesa, suffered minor injuries at 10 p. m., yesterday when he was struck by a car driven by William F. Ripkey, 49, route 2, box 425, Santa Ana. The accident occurred on South Main street as Mr. Cruz was walking across the intersection at Myrtle street.

Four persons were taken to the Orange county hospital yesterday for treatment of injuries sustained in accidents in Orange county. No report of the accidents had been made to highway patrolmen or to Santa Ana police. Following are those who received treatment at the hospital:

Miss Marjorie Seeber, 107 East Cubbon street, Santa Ana, a sprained ankle; Ruth Reichstien, 1037 Highland street, Santa Ana, lacerations about the head and face; G. C. Kelly, Orange, scalp injuries, and George Carr, 221 Orange avenue, Santa Ana, cuts and bruises.

office. The loans were in amounts of $50 from each woman employe. In at least six cases the full amount of the loan had not been repaid, he said.

Several of the girls, when questioned by grand jurors, admitted the loans, but said they were under the impression the money was to be used in Miss Whitney's campaign for re-election.

Mize Loaned $1000

Mr. Mize testified that in 1933, when Miss Whitney was allegedly short in her accounts, he had loaned her $1000, and that when Miss Whitney told him several weeks ago that she was again short in her accounts he suggested to Mrs. Ruby McFarland, chief deputy recorder, and Mrs. Mathilde Crowell that they ask the girls in the office to loan the necessary amount to cover the shortage.

Deputies and copyists in the office, according to the transcript, met at the home of Mrs. Italy Lee on Nov. 9 and discussed the matter. It was at that time that Mrs. Wilkinson and Mrs. Kolkhorst refused to contribute, Mrs. Wilkinson testified. On the following day she laid the matter before Mr. Mitchell.

First Noted in 1933

Irregularities in Miss Whitney's office first came to his attention in 1933, according to testimony by Mr. Mize. At that time he said the alleged shortage was brought about through Miss Whitney's practice of extending credit for filings in the office. He told the grand jurors that at that time he loaned her $1000 and he advised her that the office be placed on a strictly cash basis. This was done, he said, but it gradually returned to the old system. Miss Whitney still owes him $800 of the $1000 loan, he testified.

Immediately following her arrest, Miss Whitney appeared before Presiding Judge Allen and, through her attorney, former District Attorney S. B. Kaufman, asked that the arraignment date be set for Dec. 13. The delay, Mr. Kaufman said, was to give him opportunity to study a transcript of evidence given before the grand jury during that body's investigation of the office.

Rules Against Order

Mr. Kaufman also asked that Presiding Judge James L. Allen issue an order prohibiting the grand jury from summoning the accused official before further sessions of that body. According to Mr. Kaufman, Miss Whitney has been called to appear before the inquisitorial body next Monday.

In requesting the order, which was denied by Judge Allen, Mr. Kaufman said that his client who, at the opening of the grand jury probe, declared that she "would welcome a complete investigation of her office," will stand upon her constitutional rights if called before the grand jury again and refuse to testify.

"The grand jury," he said, "has apparently completed its investigation, as indicated when the indictment was returned against Miss Whitney, and has no further jurisdiction in the matter."

No More Testimony

Assistant District Attorney James Davis informed the court that she had merely been summoned to turn over certain records that are the property of the county, and no further testimony will be taken by the jurors.

The indictment and arrest of Miss Whitney climaxed an investigation launched nearly two weeks ago by District Attorney W. F. Menton and the grand jury, after Mr. Mitchell informed the board of supervisors he had been told of the shortage in the accounts of Miss Whitney.

The official examination by the grand jury got under way Nov. 18 the same day that Miss Whitney deposited $2,955.85 with the county treasurer, and filed her supporting affidavit with County Auditor William Lambert. At that time Mr. Lambert said Miss Whitney's accounts balanced in every detail.

Faces 32 Counts

The indictment charges Miss Whitney with 16 counts of misappropriating county funds over a period, starting in August, 1933, and continuing until this month. The total amount of money involved is $48,901.63. The other 16 counts involved her asserted failure to turn the money and supporting affidavits over to the treasurer and auditor within the time specified by law.

The first offense was allegedly committed in July, 1933, when Miss Whitney assertedly failed to turn over $2,814.10 on the legal date for deposit. Other dates and the amounts involved were: August, 1933, $2,346.50; September, 1933, $2,574.60; March 1, 1934, $2,913.46; April, 1934, $3,671.70; May, 1934, $3,090.20; June, 1934, $3,061.75; March, 1935, $2,822.10; April, 1935, $3,146.35; May, $3,013.05; June, $4,247.10; July, $3,090.10; August, $2,831.75; September, $2,826.50; October, $3,506.73, and November, $2,955.85.

Remains in Office

Indications today were that Miss Whitney would remain in charge of her office at least until the time of her trial.

District Attorney Menton said that, under the law, ouster proceedings could be instituted against her, but that it would be necessary to prove the charges against Miss Whitney as contained in the indictment. He said such proceedings are not likely as it would mean a duplication of the trial which Miss Whitney faces on the felony counts contained in the indictment.

drink to excess," was Mrs. Livermore's alleged statement to her son in an argument over his drinking. And when handed the gun, she shot him, probably fatally. Here's what several Santa Ana mothers have to say about her action.

Mrs. E. H. Elsner, 1212 West Sixth street: "I think many mothers, horrified b the pollution of excessive drinking, have often felt they really would rather have their sons die while undefiled and pure than to have them drag body and soul through the dregs of drunkenness. But no mother has the right to shoot her son. It was her duty to have directed his mind and actions into some other channel, away from drink. Mrs. Livermore should have found a way out for her son."

Mrs. Hugh Hougham, 2003 North Broadway: "The mother committed her first crime by the drunken example she set before her son and her last when she took his life, unpardonable by the law of God or man."

Blames 'Condition'

Mrs. A. R. Muller, 2328 North Broadway: That mother was not capable of thinking or she wouldn't have done it. In her intoxicated condition, she couldn't have judged anything right."

Mrs. J. H. Micholson, 1911 Spurgeon street: "Mrs Livermore's condition impaired her judgment, making her speak and act impulsively. Sometimes a person will make a remark like that. She was probably so sickened by her own degradation through liquor that she lost her sense of reasoning. She never would have shot him otherwise. She would have found a way out for him."

'Pulls at Hearts'

Mrs. J. W. McCormac, 112 Church street: "The mother in that woman was lost for the moment. In all the world, no mother would ever turn against her son, would ever lose faith in him. This tragedy pulls at every mother's heart."

"Mrs. T. L. Warren, 814 North Parton: "That boy, only 15 years old, had a change to grow into a fine, upright young man. The mother should have found a way to correct him, to reform him. No person is ever justified in taking a life, and this young chap had all the chance in the world to be a splendid and valuable man."

Mrs. I. A. eMrcier, 2408 Valencia street: "Any straight-thinking mother would find a way to stop his drinking. She would be constructive in her leadership and work with him until the obsession of drinking had been defeated. She would protect him from liquor."

pacity. He had not been questioned in detail.

Left Montecito School

Ross said the boy had been "more or less incorrigible," and that he recently left the Dean school in Motecito, and enrolled in the exclusive Laguna Blanca school, a private institution catering to a wealthy class.

Litigation is in progress over the boy's custody between the father and mother, and pending its determination a trust fund for him is tied up.

Ross said the boy would not accuse his mother of the shooting, and although willing to talk of his condition would not answer questions pertaining to the argument with his mother and the shooting.

When the district attorney sought to question Mrs. Livermore he was told she had been given an opiate and that it would be several hours before she was conscious.

'It Was Accident'

Going to the boy's room, Eckendorf asked the boy about the shooting.

"It was an accident; that's all I wish to say about it," the boy said. "I'm too tired to talk now, anyway."

The family physicians insisted that the district attorney delay questioning the boy, saying that he was in great pain and that he, too, must be given an opiate immediately. This was done.

Rear Admiral Orin G. Murfin and Maj. Gen. Frank Parker extended the official greeting.

President's Letter

One letter in the 1400 pounds of airmail from President Franklin D. Roosevelt to President Quezon, was brought ashore by Captain Musick for personal delivery to the Filipino leader.

Eleven hours, 25 minutes, before the arrival, the Clipper skimmed off Apra harbor, Guam island, 1700 miles west. It was the start of the only leg of the California-to-the-Philippines trip which was uncharted.

chief of police here, said he believed the girl had been induced to crawl through the 16-inch culvert to escape from the cold wind.

The fact that her clothing was not disarranged, as it was believed it would have been had she been thrush into the culvert, was his ground for this belief.

Then, he theorized, with her arms pinioned helplessly at her side and only her head protruding from the narrow opening, the assailant had crushed her head with a small rock and ended her life with his pistol. The rock, blood-stained, was found near by.

Finding of the body of Miss Hook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hook, Tacoma, marks the tragic end of a flight that began in Tacoma last Saturday evening when her former husband forced her to accompany him.

They drove to Boise, Idaho Sunday evening, spent the night there and next day continued on to Buhl, near here, according to Van Vlack's statement to Sheriff Prater.

Near Buhl they were halted by Patrolman Cooper and Deputy Sheriff Henry A. Givens. Cooper was shot and killed and Givens seriously wounded. Early next morning Van Vlack, exhausted by cold and exposure, was found lying in a roadside ditch near Hollister south of here.

He told Sheriff Prater he and the girl had separated in seeking escape.

Denied New Probation

When probation was revoked this morning, L. J. Moses, attorney for East, asked permission to file a new application for probation, with the understanding that the youth, who is the scion of a wealthy Los Angeles family, be confined in the county jail for one year.

Judge Allen denied the request and declared: "I have had several reports from the hospital about this man, and none of them were favorable. On one occasion I was requested to remove him from the hospital because of his conduct. This request I denied because I wanted to give him every opportunity to make good. He apparently has no regard for the couts, the law or anyone, and now he will have to pay the penalty."

East was given probation several months ago when he pleaded guilty to issuing worthless checks amounting to $55. As on this occasion the company of women and too much liquor caused his downfall. It was revealed at his probation hearing then that the checks were issued at Balboa during a week-end East spent drinking and gambling with another man and several pretty girl companions.

East's family attempted to have him removed from custody on the plea that he is suffering from tuberculosis.

Because of his reported disability he was ordered confined at the county hospital, where he was placed on his honor not to leave the grounds.

When confronted with evidence of his latest and last party, East today admitted he drank three pints of wine before leaving the hospital for his fling at the bright lights.

GABLE SNUBS, IS FORGIVEN

Blonde Tells Affair at Sea

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. (AP)—Petite Della Carroll, New York showgirl with starry eyes and platinum blonde curls, is willing to forgive Clark Gable for saying he didn't remember spending any happy hours with her beneath the spell of a tropic moon.

"I was sort of hurt for a moment, but I'm not mad," she said, when she heard that Gable had asserted he couldn't even remember her name.

"Well," she philosophized today, "maybe he didn't want the publicity. I don't blame him. If I ever see him in Hollywood, I'll tell him so."

Nevertheless, Miss Carroll insisted it was none other than Gable with whom she spent "the most marvelous two weeks of my life," when they were on the liner Pan-America a month ago.

Furthermore, the little dancer produced photographs showing her clinging to Gable's arm. She was wearing a bathing suit and the movie star was clad in trunks.

"He seemed willing enough to have them taken," she said. "I didn't coax him."

As for Gable's assertion that, "I can't remember anyone by that name," Miss Carroll retorted:

"Of course he knew my name. The ship's purser introduced us. Clark called me Della at first, and afterward he called me 'Irish'."

store . . . eyes like saucers.

Outside again, past another construction job. A bystander with a mustache: "They're liable to smash a whole row of 'em."

On down the street, into a drug store. Two men on stools. The heavy one with the bald head: "Didn't let me eat for five days . . . " The skinny one: "I was skin and bones . . . " The fat one: "So they put me on the table and started to work on me . . . yeah, I'll take some pie."

She Becomes Haughty

A tall man in a dark suit and a girl in a white shirt meet in a bank.

She: "What do you know?"

He: "Nothing much."

She: "Same by me."

He: "Well, I'd better be going. If I stick around here I never will know much."

She, growing haughty: "Is that so?"

"Ate Too Much"

Out on a corner waiting for traffic signals to change. A girl in a yellow dress and her friend in a green smock:

"I ate too much."

"Yeah, and I went to bed too early. Couldn't sleep. My eyes burn and I don't feel very smart."

"Say, you know the big ham that . . . "

The green light flashed.

"Hey, you big mug, get off my foot!"

Ethiopian conflict in East Africa since the start of Premier Mussolini's campaign of occupation found Great Britain, mainspring of the sanctions movement, adamant in a determination to force the embargo.

Italy's counter-program, evolved in a desperate attempt to beat the League of Nations sanctions program, was described as having as a core an attack on Britain's Mediterranean naval contingent by an aerial "death squad." A force of 125 pilots, each carrying a single great bomb, would dive on "enemy" warships to certain death.

ITALY CLAMPS ON NEWS CENSORSHIP

ASMARA, Eritrea, Nov. 29. (AP) A rigid censorship on news dispatches was clamped down by the new high commissioner today.

Under this censorship, no information of Italian military moves may be given and no names of commanders, including his own, may be mentioned. The correspondents here will be held responsible for what theirs newspapers publish.

F.D.R. HIT IN DIGEST POLL

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Incomplete returns from 12 states in the Literary Digest's national straw ballot show a further increase this week in the majority of votes registering disapproval of President Roosevelt's New Deal acts and policies.

The magazine said 207,087 votes have been tallied, of which 91,351 show approval of the New Deal and 115,736 express opposition.

The votes so far counted, the Digest said, are from Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma and Texas.

The magazine said this year's count to date shows only two of the 12 states—Georgia and Texas—giving a majority in favor of the New Deal. Illinois registered the heaviest opposition.

How can Orange county be improved?
Through a closer knitting of its peoples and a development of its county consciousness through county-wide movements.
One-sentence interview:
I believe that much leisure time is dangerous to morale unless that time is constructively used with emphasis on cultural, educational and social activities.

The Port Of Missing Men

The following names of missing persons are furnished The Journal through the courtesy of the bureau of identification at the sheriff's office.

Mrs. Pansie Heard, according to a report made to police by members of your family, you have not been seen at your home in Cathedral City since noon last Monday. Your failure to communicate with relatives has created a great deal of worry. Please get in touch with them as soon as possible.

Marion N. Lambert, since leaving your home in Los Angeles last Saturday, you have failed to communicate with relatives and they are worried over your disappearance. Please get in touch with them immediately.

Hames Hope, your disappearance from your home in Stockton has resulted in a search for you by police. Please communicate with relatives as soon as possible.

CATTLE 'DIPPED'

LAREDO, Tex. (AP)—Six hundred herds comprising 82,306 cattle have been inspected or dipped for tick eradication in Webb county.

POLICE BEAT

Lamps on three ornamental light poles on North Park boulevard were broken last night by several youths who threw rocks at them. The boys were gone when officers arrived.

E. F. Millard, 1852 West Seventh street, reported yesterday that someone had stolen seven chickens from his chicken coop. This morning he telephoned police and said the chickens had returned home. They had wandered away and spent the night in a new roosting place.

N. C. Morrison, 615 West Fifth street, last night, caught a "Peeping Tom" at the Morrison courts. After lecturing the man, who gave an Orange address, Mr. Morrison let him go. Officers today were making a further investigation into the case.

Three men drove a car into the service station at 912 North Main street last night, and while the operator, John Stalmaker, was filling the tank on the car, one of them went into the station to use the phone. He was seen to take $7 from a cigar box in the station. The suspects are believed to be residents of Lomita.

BEACH LIBRARY ROBBED OF $6

R. R. Lutes, county fingerprint expert, is investigating theft of $6 in cash from the Huntington Beach library last night by a burglar who broke a lock on the front door of the building to gain entrance.

The money was taken from a cash drawer in the library. Nothing but the cash drawer was touched, it was reported.

Officials also reported that a thief jimmied a pay-telephone box in the postoffice building, but obtained nothing.

SPANISH DAYS FIESTA OPENS AT SAN CLEMENTE TONIGHT

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's Rambling County Editor

By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

DID'JA ever get a real close look at "Death Valley Scotty?" Or at Leo Carrillo, the famed portrayer of Spanish roles on the screen? Or William S. "Bill" Hart, one-time hero of gunman roles? Or Buck Jones, or Antonio Moreno?

Neither did we, but we're going to do just that, at San Clemente over the week-end.

Mayor Smith and Hal Ayres tell us that all those personages and lots more are going to be present at various functions planned for the Old Spanish days festival which will start there tonight with a big blow-out honoring the visiting celebrities. The ones we've named are only a few of the well-knowners who'll be there for the rodeos and golf tournaments and parades and what-nots that the community's planning.

THEIR rodeo, we're told, is going to be quite the most exciting and hair-raising and thrilling and stupendous affair ever given in these parts.

Riders and ropers and bulldoggers of renown are going to display their wares tomorrow and Sunday. Some of the best known folks in the rodeo business have promised to come.

The parade tomorrow afternoon is going to be a knockout, according to all reports, and everyone's heard about the whisker-growing contest and the dance the '49ers are givin, tomorrow night.

If everyone in Orange county doesn't attend, they should. We've warned 'em!

The mayor and his gang of hard workers haven't promised any fishing trips for newspaper people.

Tch! Tch! We'll have to investigate that. We missed the opportunity of writing our copy from a boat when they entertained the press there recently. Looks like we'll wait until springtime, now!

WELL, well, well—we hear of more competition in the newspaper field. This time from Huntington Beach.

Elementary school pupils there, headed by Marian Neil, have started publication of a weekly paper.

Marian's assisted by Max Fulmer, Phyllis Riley, Jane Renfro, who already knows her newspaper business, and the journalism club. Miss Agnes Smith and Miss Elinor Greer are advisors.

We wish 'em all sorts of luck and hope they'll make worthy competitors.

WE'RE envious of the Sea Scouts and their leaders, who're staying at Newport Beach for the week-end.

From what we hear, a real program of events will keep the boys busy from morning to night, and even after, while they're visiting the county.

The full program really gets started with a dance at Huntington Beach this evening. Then there'll be dozens of sailing races and contests, with nice prizes offered to winners.

The only thing we can't figure out is an Army setup for the Sea Scouters while they're staying at the beach. Regular army equipment from March field for eating and sleeping at the municipal camp grounds. The navy'd better watch out! The army gang'll be stealing a lot of good sailors, if the beds and food are sufficiently good!

FIRE CHIEF E. J. TOBIAS at Garden Grove furnished the deer meat for a venison dinner the other evening, with members of his department as guests.

We've been told not to worry about Chief Tobias getting into trouble with the law regarding the venison—the season's over for hunting deer—so he went to Utah and obtained the meat for the party, keeping it in the village ice house until time to eat.

When the firemen have a party at Garden Grove there's usually an alarm to call 'em away from the table, but this time they dodged any such excitement and spent a peaceful evening.

In addition to municipal and other public marriage agencies, there are 13 private agencies operating in Tokyo.

MANY EVENTS SLATED ON PROGRAM

Parade, Rodeos, Dances And Banquet Planned By Committees

SAN CLEMENTE.—The biggest celebration in the history of this Spanish Village will open at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

Elaborate plans have been made to entertain thousands of visitors, drawn by the huge program of events planned for this evening, Saturday and Sunday.

An informal dance at the Rendezvous club this evening will officially open the fiesta. Many motion picture stars have been invited to attend, and visiting rodeo performers will be guests of honor, it has been announced.

Many residents of the community will be attired in early Californian and Spanish costumes for the fiesta and dance. Ethyl Johnson, resident manager of the San Clemente Hotel, will be hostess at the dance, assisted by Mrs. Phil Hulshizer, Mrs. William Morphy and Mrs. Eileen Woodman.

A golf tournament at the San Clemente course will open tomorrow's events at 12:30 p. m., with many well known players participating. A street parade, with many beautiful horses, stage coaches and other entries, will start at 1:30 p. m.

At 6 p. m. Saturday the "Old Spanish Days" banquet will be opened by Mayor A. T. Smith.

Tonight

7:30 p. m.—Dance honoring visiting celebrities, including "Death Valley Scotty," Tom Roberts, stagecoach driver, and visiting rodeo performers.

Tomorrow

12:30 p. m.—Golf tournament.
1:00 p. m.—Street parade.
2:00 p. m.—Rodeo.
6:00 p. m.—"Old Spanish banquet.
8:00 p. m.—'49er costume dance.

Sunday

10:00 a. m.—Visit to Capistrano mission.
12:30 p. m.—Golf tournament.
2:00 p. m.—Rodeo.

Many Southern California celebrities are expected to attend this affair, and Father Hutchinson, priest at San Juan Capistrano mission, and priests from other California missions have also been invited to be present.

The '49er dance, sponsored by the Men's club of San Clemente, is scheduled to open at 8 p. m. Many weeks of effort by men of the community will be displayed at the dance, when a "whiskerino" contest is staged. The dance is planned as a benefit for the annual Christmas party in charge of the club, at which children of the community are given presents.

A rodeo will be offered visitors both on Saturday and Sunday at 2 p. m. Many famous riders will be present for the event and an elaborate program has been arranged. Spike Jiminez, San Clemente, is in charge of arrangements for the programs. Permanent rodeo grounds have been prepared by the committee in charge, which plans to hold similar events twice each year.

Jose Mendez, famed for his Spanish cooking, will be in charge of barbecues both Saturday and Sunday.

Residents of Orange county and the Southland have been invited to attend all events on the two-day program by Mayor Smith, who has promised full days of entertainment for all attending.

NEW HOME IS SCENE OF PARTY AT WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER.—Celebrating for the first time in their new home, Mr. and Mrs. Lem Hay invited members of their family to join them in a Thanksgiving party yesterday.

Present were Mrs. Alice Chandler, mother of Mrs. Hay; Mr. Hay's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hay, Norco; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Penhall and Melvin and Leslie Penhall, Westminster; Mr. and Mrs. Buford Chandler, Billie, Bobbie, Betty and Marjorie Chandler, Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. James Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Homan, Ella and Maxine Homan and Bill Brown, Costa Mesa.

A family party was held yesterday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Clark, former residents of Maricopa, who recently moved here. Guests were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Knouse, and Miss Vivian Wathen of Taft.

Miss Annabelle Day, a student at San Jose college, arrived home Wednesday to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Day, for Thanksgiving vacation. Mr. and Mrs. Day entertained yesterday for their son, Herbert, their daughter, Annabelle, and Mrs. Day's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Penhall.

BEACH PUPILS START PAPER

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—The first edition of a weekly newspaper published by students of the Huntington Beach Elementary school, consisting of four full pages of news of activities at the school, has been mimeographed by the pupils.

The paper this week is unnamed. It bears the heading, "Find-Me-A-Name." A prize of a year's free subscription to the paper is offered to the person presenting the best name for the weekly.

GROUP SPENDS HOLIDAY AT BARTON FLATS

MIDWAY CITY.—Members of the W. E. Robertson family enjoyed a Thanksgiving dinner at their cabin at Barton Flats yesterday.

The family party included Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Robertson, Ruth and Mildred Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Palmer, Midway City; Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Johnson and Lucile Johnson, Fullerton, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Peabody and family, La Habra.

Mr. and Mrs. Armand Heil, with Melvin, Frances, Dale and Betty Heil, motored to Imperial to spend Thanksgiving and the ensuing week-end with relatives.

John and Dean Pryor arrived Wednesday night from the university at Davis to spend the vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pryor. Miss Jean Neill, Sunset Beach, and Miss Margaret Jackson, Anaheim, were guests in the Pryor home Wednesday and Thursday.

Nyi Pu, a young Burmese actor, appears opposite Miss Mitsuko Takao in "Daughter of Japan," a recent Japanese motion picture.

WELL IS NEAR COMPLETION

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—The East Beach Oil company is drilling ahead on East Beach No. 1 with the drill now at a depth of 2627 feet. It is expected that bottom will soon be reached, as it is the plan to drill to about 2950 feet.

B. A. West and V. W. Moulton are backers of the project. The well was drilled in 1923 by the Utical Oil and Trust company and produced about 300,000 barrels of oil until it became idle a few years ago.

The well was formerly drilled to a depth of 3600 feet and the new concern is cleaning out the old hole.

The Woolner Oil company is drilling a new well on Golden West avenue near Garfield avenue and is preparing to set water string at 650 feet.

On Garfield avenue the Macal Oil company is drilling ahead at about 3100 feet and will soon cement.

ANAHEIM UNION SERVICE HELD

ANAHEIM.—Residents of Anaheim observed Thanksgiving day yesterday at union church services in the White Temple Methodist church, the program under auspices of the Anaheim Ministerial association.

The program opened with musical numbers. The Rev. Thomas H. Walker offered prayer and the Rev. O. R. Schroeder the Scripture reading. The Rev. Virgil K. Ledbetter, Calvary Baptist church, read the President's proclamation and the Rev. S. E. Schrader was in charge of collection and an offering for city welfare work.

The Rev. S. M. Cheek, pastor of the Wesley Methodist church, South, gave the address. The Rev. William Rogatsky, pastor of the West Broadway Methodist church, closed the program with benediction.

NIGHT SCHOOL CLASSES TOLD

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO.—Night School Principal Charlie Dean has announced successful organization of two new classes in adult education. They are a department in commercial subjects, and one in glee club work. Both of the new classes are at La Cienega CCC camp, with teachers going to the camp, although the project is under jurisdiction of the San Juan Capistrano Union High school district.

Miss Mabel V. Stewart is instructor in glee club, and Miss Gladys M. Ackerman, commercial. Both teachers are from Elsinore. Mr. Dean said the classes have an enrollment in excess of 75 camp members, all of whom are colored.

Thirteen local businessmen responded to a call for forming a men's physical education class. Upon organization the group decided to meet at 8 o'clock each Thursday evening in the gymnasium.

YULE PARTY IS CLUB'S PLAN

BARBER CITY.—A Christmas program will be given at the regular meeting of the Woman's club next Wednesday.

Mrs. Mary Johnson and Mrs. Helen Laden will be the hostesses. A Christmas party for children will be given Dec. 23, and elaborate plans are being made for that occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Kolburn had as guests on Thanksgiving, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kolburn, Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Laden and family were dinner guests aboard the battleship, "Maryland" yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Caswell entertained the J. Caswell family of Long Beach yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Perry have moved to Pasadena, where Mr. Perry has a position with the police department.

PLAN TRIP FOR ORANGE BOYS

ORANGE. — Twenty-five boys are expected to attend the annual "Y" day in Hollywood Dec. 7, it has been announced.

A special showing of "Mutiny On the Bounty" will be staged in honor of the visitors. At noon a box lunch will be provided at the Hollywood High school field, and this will be followed by a football game at the Olympic stadium. The quota of boys for Orange had almost been reached last night, according to J. B. Wilbur, secretary.

RELATIVES VISIT MEAIRS FAMILY IN MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY.—Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Meairs and family, Chino, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Meairs yesterday.

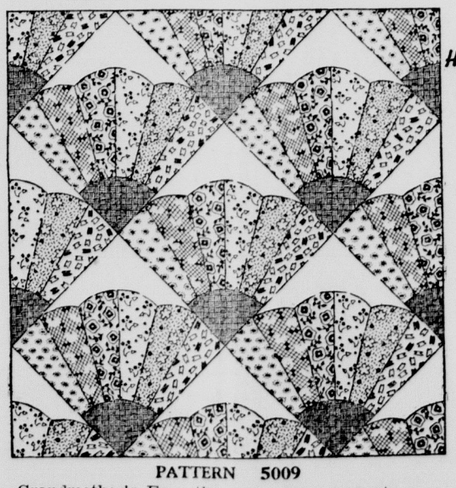

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. McCleary, Hollywood, spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Chester Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Davies and Shirley and Eugene, Davies spent Thanksgiving in Los Angeles with Mr. Davies' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Davies.

Mr. and Mrs. William Schmidt, jr., and baby son of Corona, are visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt, sr., over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Wasser and Clarence and Alfred Wasser were guests of relatives in Los Angeles at a Thanksgiving dinner.

A Popular Quilt Because It's Easy

Household Arts by Alice Brooks

Use Gay Scraps

Grandmother's Fan

PATTERN 5009

Grandmother's Fan—the very name suggests romance and olden times. This quilt design—an heirloom from the quiltmaker of long ago—has all the charm the name calls to mind. It's made of scraps—oh, lots of them—each fan a more colorful block than the last. Your quilt will be as economical as it is beautiful, for odds and ends of left-over materials from your favorite dress are all you'll need.

In pattern 5009 you will find the Block Chart, an illustration for cutting, sewing and finishing, together with yardage chart, diagram of quilt to help arrange the blocks for single and double bed size, and a diagram of block which serves as a guide for placing the patches and suggests contrasting materials.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Santa Ana Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth Street, Santa Ana, Calif.

NEWPORT BEACH SCENE OF SEA SCOUT RENDEZVOUS

NEWPORT BEACH.—Tents are pitched, cots are up and everything is in readiness for 300 Sea Scouts and Scout officials who have been arriving from California, Utah, Arizona and Nevada to attend the Sea Scout Rendezvous and Regatta, which will continue over Sunday. Many of the scouts arrived Thanksgiving evening, and many others reached port this morning for the three-day confab.

Headquarters are established in the municipal camp grounds, turned over for the rendezvous by city officials. March Field, Riverside, is supplying tents and cots. A commissary will be set up and the boys and officials will enjoy real army life.

A reception was scheduled with county and city officials and representatives from Huntington Beach, the host unit, welcoming guests.

Appropriate nautical equipment will be awarded by Scout executives to winners in swimming, sailing, pulling and sculling races, knot tying and other contests.

Huntington Beach ship will be host to the guests at a grand ball in Memorial hall this evening. Scout Leader Harvey Bartlett, Mayor T. B. Talbert, President D. E. Burry and Secretary W. H. Gallienne of the chamber of commerce are in charge of the affair.

Numerous boats cruised into port today with Scouts and executives aboard. C. L. Appling, Long Beach, sailed his motor sailor, Viking, into the harbor; Morgan Patterson arrived in his yacht "Iduna"; Fred Bosbyshell, Los Angeles, regional Scout executive and member of the national Scout committee, is expected to arrive by boat.

Bob Hill, representing the National Sea Scouts and regional representative of this area, is in full charge. He is assisted by Mr. Appling, registrar; Mr. Griest, Santa Monica; Harrison White, Santa Ana; Ed Baxter, Los Angeles; Col. M. B. Wellington, Harvey Bartlett and many local leaders.

NEWPORT GIRL THANKFUL

Louella Dixon Recovering

NEWPORT BEACH. — Thanksgiving Day was more than just a holiday to Louella Dixon yesterday.

Two years ago she was injured playing, and due to a blood clot on her brain, was partially paralyzed from the hurt. One arm and leg were almost useless, and an expensive operation was needed to bring her back to health.

Today the 18-year-old high school student is reported well on the road to recovery, following a delicate operation performed in Los Angeles by Dr. Leo Edelstein.

The operation was made possible by residents and organizations of the harbor area, who staged a series of benefits to raise almost $500 for care of the girl. The money-raising campaign was climaxed by a monster community-wide entertainment two weeks ago in the Newport Harbor Union High school auditorium.

"It is wonderful to know I'll be well again," Miss Dixon said yesterday. Her mother added that that day was more than an ordinary Thanksgiving for her family. Dr. Edelstein announced yesterday that the girl will soon be able to walk and attend classes in perfect health.

ORANGE 20-30 PLANS DRIVE

ORANGE.—Officers were nominated at a 20-30 club meeting Wednesday evening in the Sunshine Broiler for their weekly dinner meeting. No outside speaker was provided, as members discussed plans for collecting used toys, repairing them, and distributing them to needy children in time for Christmas.

A committee has been appointed to handle details of the distribution, and those having old toys which can be repaired are asked to get in touch with Stan Wilson, chairman of the committee or C. H. Alexander, Melvin Clement, V. G. Wolfe, and Roy Hahne.

CLUB'S CHARTER LIST CLOSED

GARDEN GROVE.—With 24 members enrolled, the recently organized Junior Women's Civic club closed its charter membership list at a meeting held Tuesday evening at the home of the president, Miss Eleanor Wisner.

Scott, Fullerton, and Mrs. Robert Johnson and son, Walter, who arrived Tuesday from Rolla, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Davis, Anaheim, and Mrs. Emily Stearns, Los Angeles. During the afternoon Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Revell and mother, Mrs. Madge Revell, Los Angeles were callers.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Harper and daughter, Caryl, had as dinner guests yesterday Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Culter and Jean Kirkpatrick, Fontana; Miss Jean Wichman, New Mexico; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Brownlee, Orange; Miss Helen Harper, Dick Wichman and Bob Ewing, all students at Santa Barbara Teachers' college. Ed Davis, Cozad, Neb., and Joseph Woodsum, Redlands, were afternoon callers.

Miss Adelaide Proctor and sister, Mrs. S. W. Andrews, entertained yesterday with a family Thanksgiving dinner attended by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Higgins, Orange; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hanna, Monrovia, and Will Proctor, Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Wickersheim and son, Oliver, jr., and C. J. Wickersheim were guests of the latter's two daughters, Mrs. Lloyd McWirter and Miss Elsie Wickersheim, in Los Angeles, yesterday.

GARDEN GROVE LIONS MEET

GARDEN GROVE.—Prof. Ken Nakazawa, language instructor at U. S. C., and associated with the Japanese consul office in Los Angeles, was guest speaker at a recent meeting of the Garden Grove Lions club.

Ray Johnson, as program chairman, introduced the speaker, who gave a history of Japanese-Chinese difficulties.

A ladies' night program at the Legion hall Dec. 6 will take the place of next week's luncheon.

CRILL TO TALK AT ALAMITOS

ALAMITOS.—The Brotherhood of the Alamitos church will be entertained at a meeting next Tuesday evening with motion pictures and a talk on Mexico by J. W. Crill.

Other entertainment features are being planned and a pot-luck supper will be served at 7 o'clock.

It pays to know how to do one thing well. It pays both you and me.

LOOKING AT SPORTS ON FULL STOMACH

PARAGRAPHS, written on a thanks-giving tummy:

The name most sentimental in football . . . that of the late beloved Knute Rockne . . . will live yet again on the nation's gridiron.

Knute junior is a promising football player at the small military academy in Miami, Fla. Reason you may not have heard of him before is that he plays quietly but well for this tiny school, will not enter college for one more year yet.

Says his coach: "Just because his father was one of the gridiron immortals doesn't mean his son will be. But this lad, I believe, has what it takes. He's fast, and hard to tackle in an open field, an accurate passer. What's more important he's a fighter." That was Coach Reed Williams speaking.

Col. J. R. Williams, head of the 30-student institution, thinks the youngster will be ready for college after one more year. The college, Young Rockne says, will be "Notre Dame, of course."

GEORGE FARQUHAR, Santa Anan in self-imposed exile at Berkeley, writes to say that Floyd Blower has one more year of eligibility if he wishes to keep on starring for the University of California Bears. Floyd, however, is slated to graduate in May . . . unless, as George says, "something is done about it."

DON FANS probably have let the matter pass by now, but fact is their gala bonfire for the pre-game Thanksgiving battle rally was ignited twice before the time for festivities and had to be rebuilt in a hurry both times. Students and stooges hopped out of class, hopping mad and hopped to work. They later hoped to hop on the guilty ones but didn't find out who did the dirty work. An informer tells us this thing happens each year. Police protection, or sompin, is needed.

WONDER why someone doesn't try this now? Long ago—45 years—when West Point and Annapolis started their colorful grid rivalry (the sailors won 24-0) nautical and military signals were used in the then "new fangled game called football."

Navy's quarterback, the late Capt. Moulton Johnson, barked: "Rise, tacks and sheets, let go and overhaul the weather lifts" and the sailors tore into their flying wedge.

If it had been some of the modern players they could have used A. W. O. L. to advantage, methinks.

POETS GRAB TITLE

WHITTIER.—Whittier today held the Southern California Conference football championship for the second consecutive year. The Poets brushed aside the last obstacle in the defense of their title yesterday, toppling the La Verne Leopards, 26 to 7. The Whittier first team was used only in the first half. La Verne scored its points in the last quarter, Cranford passing to Eisan.

BLACK FOXE BEATS INVADER

LOS ANGELES.—Black Foxe Military academy today boasted a 20 to 14 victory over St. John's Military academy of Delafield, Wis., as a result of a wild passing game at Memorial coliseum yesterday. The Hollywood cadets earned the triumph in the final third period when a blocked punt and a pass to Gerber over the goal line broke a 14 to 14 tie.

Loss To Fordham Puts Violets Out; Clash Settles Issue

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN

PASADENA, Nov. 29. (AP)—Western football fans who have been attempting to help Stanford select its Rose bowl opponent of Jan. 1 settled back today and decided to let Texas carry the ball from here on in.

For Southern Methodist and Texas Christian were the only remaining untied and undefeated acceptable teams for the annual intersectional clash as a result of New York University's 21-0 loss to Fordham yesterday.

Want 'Em Back

The West, which saw Southern Methodist complete 17 passes to defeat University of California at Los Angeles, the only team to pin a loss on Stanford's record this year, apparently would like nothing better than a second showing of football as it is played in the Lone Star state.

And if Texas Christian can outpass the Mustangs Saturday afternoon, the Pacific seaboard will welcome T. C. U. into the Rose bowl with the same enthusiasm promised Southern Methodist.

Watches Outcome

There was still some vague talk of trying to get Notre Dame, beaten and tied, but the mass of evidence that continued to pile up for the winner of the Southwestern conference championship struggle seemed to add weight to the statement of Al Masters, Stanford's graduate manager, that he was "interested in the outcome" of the southern contest.

Masters planned to set up offices here today as a preliminary move toward getting the ticket sales moving but he indicated he would have no announcement to make "pending the outcome of Saturday's games."

MORMONS LOSE ON Y COURT

The Woolen Mills of the Commercial league bested the Latter Day Saints (Mormons) of the Church league, 34 to 32, in a spirited basketball game at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday night in preparation for second-half play next week.

The lineups:

Woolen M. (34)	Pos.	(32) Mormons
Stephen (4)	F	Snow
McDonald (18)	F	(12) Acker
Peterson (4)	C	(8) Cook
Spangler (2)	G	(6) Sears
McChesney (2)	G	(4) Padias

Substitutions

Woolen Mills—White (2) for Stephen, Wiemer (2) for Peterson.
Mormons—Earle (2) for Snow, Smith for Cook.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29. (AP)—The Los Angeles Maroons kept on top of the professional football standings today by reason of a 13-to-7 Thanksgiving day victory over the Westwood Cubs.

Azucar (Spanish Sugar To You) Brings Sweet Profits To Owner

Among the ten or more "bargain horses" who won their original cost price, their oats and more, too, for their owners are Azucar and Discovery. Discovery (shown at right), which cost Owner Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt $20,000, cleaned up $102,545, most of it in eight straight victories this year after earning $49,555 in 1934 while trailing Cavalcade's hoofs. Vanderbilt is shown with Discovery. Azucar (left) was the real bargain. Owner Fred Alger, jr., of Detroit pocketed $117,950 won by the Spanish-named horse reported to have cost $7,500 originally.

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. (AP)—Real bargains among the turf's ranking thoroughbreds are few and far between, but at least ten horses, including the great Discovery, fall in that category this year.

Although Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt paid $20,000 for Discovery as a two-year-old, the famous chestnut son of Display has earned his oats many times over. As a juvenile, the 1935 handicap champion, holder of two world records, was not much but last year he picked up $49,555 while trailing Cavalcade through most of the season. He was even greater this year, winning $102,545, the majority of it in piling up eight straight victories.

A Real Bargain

The most notable bargain of the season, however, was Azucar, the former jumper which young Fred Alger, jr., of Detroit acquired from J. E. Widener for a reported price of $7,500. The gelded son of Milesius, Irish-bred and with a Spanish name, rolled up a grand total of $117,950, largely because of his victory in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap.

A. A. Baroni's Top Row, the little speedster that broke Discovery's winning streak in the Narragansett special and then repeated the victory in the Massachusetts Handicap at Suffolk Downs, also rates near the top. The California sportsman claimed the son of Peanuts for a mere $3,500 in 1934. Since Jan. 1, he has won $93,120 and ranks with Discovery as the one to beat in the 1936 Santa Anita Handicap.

Profit In King Saxon

King Saxon, rated the greatest of the year's milers, Identify and Good Gamble, stablemates of Discovery, the Canadian-owned Stand Pat and Roman Soldier also have proved rare bargains among the older horses.

C. H. (Pat) Knebelkamp acquired the king as a two-year-old for $2,500. He returned $38,010 to his Kentucky owner's pocket. Young Vanderbilt picked up Identify out of a claiming race for $3,500 last year and won $26,095 with the three-year-old before he went wrong at Saratoga.

Tintagel and Grand Slam

Roman Soldier, which like Identify and Good Gamble came out of Max Hirsch's barns, cost the late William Sachsenmaier and Phil Reuter a reported sum of $7,500. He went on to prove one of the ablest of the year's three-year-olds, winning $45,100 with victories in the Texas and Detroit derbies.

STORMY GRID YEAR NEARS END WITH NEW UPSETS

(By the Associated Press)

The 1935 football season, notable for its upsets and form reversals, approached the final stage today.

Short-enders continued to come through, as Alabama and Temple, pre-game favorites, lost yesterday and the Panthers of Pittsbugh were held to a scoreless tie.

Alabama, Temple Lose

Alabama, considered one of the most powerful teams in the country after a slow start, was bowled over by the Vanderbilt Commodores, 13-6, Temple fell before Bucknell 7-6, and Pittsburgh was tied by Carnegie.

Meanwhile other coaches were wondering what tomorrow's closing day would bring. Army and navy will clash in Philadelphia, Princeton will risk its unblemished record with its lone conqueror of last year, Yale, and Holy Cross, in a receptive mood for a Sugar or Rose bowl invitation, will tangle with its arch rival, Boston College.

Florida will have plenty on its hands in meeting Auburn at Miami, Georgia and Georgia Tech will renew their inter-state battle, Louisiana State will meet Tulane, and Mississippi State will play Mississippi.

Frogs Vs. Mustangs

With an invitation to the Rose bowl believed at stake, the Horned Frogs of Texas Christian and the Mustangs of Southern Methodist, both untied and undefeated, will clash in a game that has aroused the speculation of football fans the country over. The duel between Christian's Sammy Baugh and Methodist's Bobby Wilson, two of the best backs of the year, is expected to be sensational.

Rice meets Baylor in another southwest game, and the University of California at Los Angeles tangles with Idaho.

Runs Beat Violets

New York University, which had been considered to have one of the best passing attacks in the country and which had been undefeated and untied, was decisively outclassed by Fordham before 72,000 persons in Yankee stadium yesterday, 21-0.

Penn downed Cornell 33-7, Colgate beat Brown 33-0, and Syracuse and Maryland drew. Catholic defeated North Carolina State 8-0, West Virginia and Loyola of New Orleans drew 19-19, and Kentucky ran up a 27-0 score on Tennessee. North Carolina, knocked from the undefeated list by Duke, took revenge on Virginia, 61-0.

Nebraska beat Oregon State 26-20, Missouri and Kansas played a scoreless tie. Missouri played a scoreless tie with Kansas.

BRUINS BATTLE FOR COAST TIE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29. (AP)—Keenly anticipating a tie for the Pacific Coast championship by a victory over Idaho tomorrow, the Bruins of the University of California at Los Angeles rounded off drill today as the Vandals arrived from the Northwest.

A revamped U. C. L. A. lineup will start the game, Sophomore George Robinson replacing Capt. Bob McChesney at end, because of the latter's scholastic difficulties that this week resulted in his ineligibility. Five Bruin seniors, headed by Chuck Cheshire, flashy halfback, will make their last collegiate appearance before Los Angeles fans.

ROSS TANGLES WITH GARCIA

CHICAGO, Nov. 29. (AP)—Ceferino Garcia, slugging Los Angeles Filipino, who thinks $12,500 worth that he can whip welterweight champion Barney Ross, will try to prove it tonight in the Chicago stadium.

80,000 TO SEE ARMY-NAVY CONTEST

Sailors Have Edge In Backfield; Soldiers' Line Is Heavier

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29. (AP) If you like weight in the line it's Army; if backfield poundage interests you, take Navy.

That's the lineup for the starting combinations in the 36th renewal of the service gridiron rivalry on Franklin field tomorrow.

80,000 to See Game

When the two elevens line up for the kickoff before 80,000-odd ticketholders jamming the huge stadium to the roof, the Army line will have a nine-pound average over the navy forward wall—188 to 179—while Navy will pull seven pounds better per man in the ball-carrying department, 173 to 166.

With fair weather and a strong wind forecast for today and tomorrow, officials said they believed they could return the gridiron, soaked by a 24-hour rain, to nearly normal condition by game time.

Hotels All Full

Meantime the stream of humanity coming to witness the game poured into Philadelphia on every train and all highways. Hotels were full up and were sending the overflow across the Delaware river to Camden, N. J., and other nearby communities.

Society mingled with the everyday football fan for the annual spectacle that attracts the great and the small. All were bringing to Philadelphia the million dollars that hotel and civic officials estimated would be spent here by the incoming horde.

Championship football laurels in the Coast Preparatory league will be on the block tomorrow when Long Beach Poly and San Diego, unbeaten after games with Santa Ana and Alhambra, tangle in the San Diego stadium at 2:15 p. m.

The Long Beach Jackrabbits, coached by Orian Landreth, are the defending champions of Southern California. They boast a more powerful club this fall, but are passing up a chance for another Southland title to compete in the Coast Preparatory league sports carnival in their own city Dec. 7. San Diego also will not enter the C. I. F. playoffs if Glen Broderick's Hillers score an upset over the Hares.

BRADDOCK WILL SHOW TONIGHT

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 29. (AP)—Film colony boxing fans will get their first look at Champion Jim Braddock since some of them saw him win the title from Max Baer when he steps into the Legion stadium ring tonight for a three-round exhibition with Jack McCarthy, Boston heavyweight.

Possible ringsiders include two former champions, James J. Jeffries and Gene Tunney. Frankie Covelli, Brooklyn, meets George Hansford, Los Angeles, in the 10-round main event.

Results in Final Round

Fullerton 7, Santa Ana 0.
Riverside 14, Chaffey 7.
Citrus 14, Pomona 0.

As a fitting reward for conquering Chaffey 14-7 in a Thanksgiving day classic at Ontario, Riverside was sporting another Eastern conference football crown today, while an inspired swarm of Fullerton Yellowjackets celebrated a 7-0 upset victory over Santa Ana.

The stinging received by Bill Cook's astonished Dons before a holiday crowd of more than 5000 fans at the Municipal bowl was soothed somewhat by Riverside's showing. The downfall of Chaffey automatically crushed Santa Ana's pennant hopes regardless of how the locals fared with their contrary rivals from Fullerton.

Art (Lucky) Nunn's visiting horde pushed across the winning touchdown on a "break" in the final period, but even a scoreless tie would have been a moral victory for the Fullerton eleven, which threatened twice as often and completely bottled up Santa Ana's attack with some fine defensive work and Halfback Bert Kidd's effective punting.

Interference on Pass

With the ball on Santa Ana's 45 late in the third quarter, Kidd tossed a long pass intended for Dick Henning, left end. The ball fell to the ground, but officials ruled interference and Fullerton was given a first down on the 6-yard line.

Fullback Leo Burns hit center for four yards, but Kidd was held for no gain two yards from the goal as the third period ended. Kidd advanced a yard, and Burns smashed over the left side of the line for the score. Capt. Dale Allison, end, kicked the conversion.

Wait Hendrie, surprise starter at left end, was Santa Ana's most alert lineman. The slender ex-Saint almost netted the Dons a touchdown in the third quarter. Fullerton was plugging away on its own 41. Quarterback Farmer received a short lateral, and faded back to hand the ball to Halfback Kidd, whose assignment called for a long pass. But Hendrie came between Farmer and Kidd, intercepted the lateral and dashed to the 23-yard line before being tackled. A fumble on the first play by Dick Moore, however, set the Dons back 10 yards. An unsuccessful line smash and an incompleted pass followed, and Lamb punted out of bounds on the 20.

Kidd Comes Through

Joe Herbert's punt, caught by Quarterback Burns of Fullerton on the goal and returned to his 6-yard line, looked like a scoring opportunity for Santa Ana in the second period, but the consistent Kidd booted one to mid-field.

Santa Ana's best ground gainer was John Lehnhardt, who broke away twice for runs of 27 and 19 yards.

The Dons outgained their visitors, 226 yards to 154, and 10 first downs to six, but this edge went unnoticed. Stubborn defense work kept thrills at a minimum. Lauterborn, Fullerton tackle, was in virtually every play.

Santa Ana completed six out of 18 passes for a gain of 87 yards. Fullerton completed three out of nine for 76 yards.

Pass Ends Rally

The Dons drove from their 9-yard line to mid-field on running plays in the fourth with Herbert and Moore lugging the ball, but Maxson, center, intercepted Herbert's pass, and returned to the Don 31. Kidd passed to Allison to the 16, and Fullerton advanced to the 6-yard mark before losing possession on Kidd's fumble which Moore recovered.

Sophomores in suit for Santa Ana for the last time were Nelson Rogers and Charley Roemer, tackles; Walt Hickman and Ralph Comstock, halfbacks; Bruce Harnois and Major Anderson, safeties; and Dick Moore, fullback. Playing their final game for Fullerton were Allison, Henning and Hart, ends; Porter, tackle; Sullivan guard; Maxson, center; Burns, quarterback; Farmer, Fox, Kidd and Ogden, halves, and Nesbit, fullback.

The lineups:

Henning	LE	Hendrie
Porter	LT	Bolton
Rockwell	LG	Craft
Maxson	C	Spray

GRID ROOTERS CAUSE RIOT

Tear Gas Quells Minor Uprising After Game At Municipal Bowl

Tear gas was spread over the Municipal bowl by Chief of Police Floyd Howard's city police force yesterday to break up a minor riot between students following Fullerton Junior college's 7-0 football upset over Santa Ana before a holiday crowd of 5000 fans.

The outburst was due to a traditional rivalry that has grown keen and heated between the two institutions since 1927.

The victory-mad Fullerton rooters swarmed on the field after the game and attempted to tear down the south goal posts. Santa Ana student fans rushed to defend them, and fists flew until the police shot a load of tear gas into the enthusiastic mob. The students rushed to the other end of the field and uprooted the north goal posts, and more tear gas was used to break up the new crowd. Fullerton succeeded in shattering both goal posts before the spirited riot was quelled.

No serious damage resulted from the lively celebration, and no arrests were made, Chief Howard reported.

CALEXICO WINS TITLE

CALEXICO, Nov. 29. (AP)—Imperial valley's prep football championship rested with Calexico High school today after three years in the possession of Brawley. The Bulldogs handed Brawley its first defeat of the season yesterday, 6 to 2.

LOPEZ SIGNED TO BATTLE WEE WILLIE DAVIS HERE

Undefeated here, and climaxing his sensational winning streak by a triumph over Sandor Szabo Monday night, Wee Willie Davis has been signed to wrestle Vinvent Lopez for the world championship Monday night at the 101 Highway arena. They clash in a best two out of three falls battle that will either put the finishing touches to Davis' rough riding over opponents or see him annex the recognized world title.

Lopez, with his celebrated "elbow smash," should batter down Davis. The match is regarded as the biggest "natural" in the history of the sport here, and no less than 2000 persons are expected to sit in. Besides the championship affair, Promoter Sampson has Kiman Kudo, the clever Japanese matman, back from a successful invasion of Eastern wrestling centers, facing Nelson Davis; Milo Steinborn opposing Terrible Turk Youssef, and the latest local favorite, Casey Columbo, meeting Preacher Hogue.

HOTEL BLAZE RESULTS IN BIG LOSS

Two Narrowly Escape In $75,000 Fire At San Bernardino

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 29.—Two persons had narrow escapes from death and the lives of more than 100 guests were imperiled yesterday when flames partially destroyed the Stewart hotel at San Bernardino.

The fire apparently started in the hotel coffee shop, and swept up an air shaft to the fourth story of the hotel. The flames were discovered at 6:30 a. m. Bellboys and hotel switchboard operators summoned all guests and ordered them to vacate their rooms.

Fire fighting apparatus from nearby towns came to the aid of the San Bernardino department, but could not save the building, a landmark in the city. The loss is estimated at $75,000.

Firemen Save Two

Heroism of three firemen saved the lives of a woman and her pet dog, and a man trapped on the fourth floor of the hotel. The woman, clad in her nightgown, appeared at a window in the northeast corner of the fourth floor of the hotel building and threatened to jump. A fireman engaged her in conversation from an adjoining window, begging her to wait until other firemen could raise a ladder to her.

While the fireman talked, flames were seen shooting out of the window over his head. Later he said the entire ceiling of the room in which he stood was blazing. The woman was carried down a ladder by another fireman and when she reached the ground she screamed that her pet dog was still in the room she had just left. A fireman raced back up the ladder and found the animal huddled under the bed whining in fright.

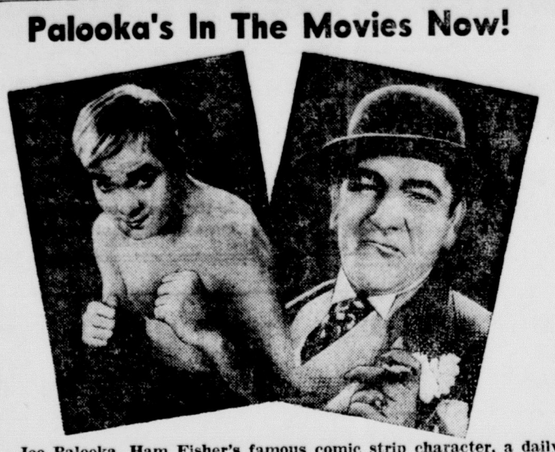

Fourth Floor Crashes

The other guest carried from the hotel by firemen was William F. Gregory, Los Angeles.

The fire was controlled shortly before noon after the fourth floor had been completely burned, the debris crashing through to the third floor. The first two stories of the building were badly damaged by smoke and water.

The Citizens National bank and several stores on the ground floor were untouched by flames, but badly damaged by smoke and water.

Palooka's In The Movies Now!

Joe Palooka, Ham Fisher's famous comic strip character, a daily feature in The Journal, is in the movies now! The Warner Brothers Vitaphone studio in the East has just completed the first in a series of two-reel comedies starring "Joe" and his manager, "Knobby Walsh." Robert Norton, all-around college athlete, portrays the role of Joe, with Shemp Howard, well-known stage and screen comedian, playing Knobby.

The above glimpse into how American business was carried on in September, 1823, is afforded in a yellowed copy of the National Intelligencer, newspaper published in Washington, D. C. The copy is a possession of C. B. Stockton, 508 South Bristol street, Santa Ana.

Published "three times a week during the sessions of Congress," and "two times a week in recess," the Intelligencer was a commentary on the big news of more than a century ago.

Another item of interest in the paper concerns "one of the free coloured persons" who left Petersburg, Va., for Africa some time ago, returning to take his family to Africa, whence he brought glowing reports.

Pestilence on the Mississippi, a strong protest in favor of imprisonment for debt, very lengthy letters to the editor and such foreign dispatches as "It is reported that the censorship of the Press is about to be re-established in Paris" are among other items in the old paper.

TRAFFIC CHECK DENIED BY WPA

Orange county's proposed traffic survey has been turned down as a Works Progress administration project, but will be carried on as a county project.

Nat Neff, county highway superintendent, informed the board of supervisors this week that the WPA had turned down the project because the United States bureau of public roads and the California highway department are cooperating in a state-wide traffic survey.

On recommendation of Mr. Neff, the supervisors authorized him to employ a man for approximately three weeks for the purpose of carrying on phases of the survey pertaining to traffic accidents. The man will be employed to search records of the California highway patrol, under direction of the boulevard stop committee. The purpose of the study will be to determine what effect boulevard stops have on traffic accidents in this county.

The boulevard stop committee is made up of representatives of the Southern California Automobile club, Capt. Henry Meehan of the California highway patrol and Mr. Neff.

EL TORO LAND OWNERS TO MEET ON ORGANIZATION

Property owners in the El Toro soil conservation area will meet again at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at the El Toro Citizens Conservation corps camp headquarters to hear a final report of a special committee named to draw up articles of association.

The gathering will be an adjourned session to consider organization of land owners into an association to represent the interests of the growers in development of the erosion control works now being built by the government.

Ben Osterman, El Toro, temporary chairman, is chairman of the committee which will report. Other members are Raymond Prothero and C. Roy Browning. W. B. Hooper, agriculturist for the soil erosion conservation service, and Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg collaborated with the committee.

RICHBERG TO TAKE STUMP FOR F.D.R.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. (AP)—Donald R. Richberg, former recovery chieftain, soon will start a series of speeches supporting the New Deal and President Roosevelt's general objectives.

Shortly after the first of the year, Richberg will break the silence he has maintained since he retired as chairman of the recovery board almost six months ago. He has accepted several invitations to discuss public affairs.

Breaks Precedent

In supporting the New Deal, Richberg will be breaking what amounts almost to a precedent established by retired administration chieftains. Half a dozen of them have been highly critical since departing from its staff.

Although Joseph P. Kennedy, former chairman of the securities commission, has maintained friendly relations with the New Deal, most of the others have not.

List Of Critics

The list of critics includes Lewis Douglas, former budget director; Hugh S. Johnson, former NRA administrator, although he still supports the President personally; O. M. W. Sprague, former treasury advisor; James P. Warburg, advisor at the London economic conference; and a number of lesser figures.

For the first six months of his retirement, Richberg has refrained from comment on the government's program. He has concentrated on his law business and the writing of a book.

1ST SYMPHONY EVENT DEC. 8

Elwood Bear, director of the Santa Ana symphony orchestra, has announced that the opening concert of the winter series will be presented Dec. 8, in the auditorium of the First Methodist church, Sixth and Spurgeon streets, at 7 p. m. A program of classical and romantic works has been chosen for the first concert. The program will be free.

The following selections appear on the first program: "Le Grand Raque Russe" by Rimsky-Korsakoff; two "Scenes from the South," i.e., Maurisches Tanglied, and "In der Taberna," by Jean Nicode; Mendelssohn's "Italian Symphony," the movements allegro vivace, and andante con moto; "On the Steppes of Central Asia" by Alexander Borodin; overture to the opera "Iphigenia in Aulis," by Christoph Gluck; and Ase's death from "Peer Gynt Suite," by Edward Grieg.

The orchestra was organized in 1924 and maintains a foundation of its original membership to which a large number of musicians from all over Orange county has since been added. Two or three musicians come from as far away as Pomona to play in the orchestra. Through a common love of good music these musicians assemble every Monday night to rehearse for future concerts, which they present without pay.

Local musicians of prominence who appear with the orchestra are Miss Georgia Belle Walton, concert master; Edward Burns, principal 'cellist; Leland Auer, who is orchestra and band leader in high school and junior college, as trumpet player.

Cooperating with Mr. Bear in musical and administrative capacities are Mrs. Calvin Flint, president of the organization; Fred Ferry, owner of the music library; and the Rev. Dr. George A. Warmer, who graciously disposes the church auditorium for the orchestra appearances.

BARBERS REQUESTED TO MEET ON COST PRICE SCHEDULE

All barbers were requested today to attend a meeting at Gonzalez hall, 306 East Fourth street, next Wednesday, at 8 p. m., for the purpose of establishing an effective date for adoption of a cost price schedule. Notices of the meeting were sent out by Al Hall, chairman.

The session has been called by the local board of arbitration and adjustment. Provisions of the recently enacted law affecting the barber trade, as well as code activities, will be explained. District Attorney W. F. Menton is expected to be present to outline legal phases of the situation.

SERVICE HONORS DRESSES!

To Show Old Wedding Gowns

Out of old lavender will come many a bridal gown Sunday night when women of the First Methodist church have been asked to come to the evening service in their bride's dress.

In the style of '89 or November, 1935, the dresses will be feted at the service. Prizes will be given for the oldest and newest costumes.

The Rev. Dr. George A. Warmer will speak on "Radiant Glory of the Home." The happiness of family life and pleasures of home will be discussed by the speaker.

Wedding songs, including "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds" and "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes" will be scheduled for music of the service.

Santa Ana Stores, Packed with Gift Hints, Tell You Christmas Is Nearly Here

By VIRGINIA SMITH

Christmas is going to be fun in Santa Ana this year.

Not just the mild, cheery holiday that has been observed for the past several seasons, but a riotous festival with grinning yuletide logs, tumultous songs and, especially, gifts that lilt and sparkle with subtleties of mystery and glamour.

Any doubting Scrooge has only to glimpse the surprises merchants have in store for him and he'll join the chorus of the "Joyous Noelers."

The man who always loses his soap in the shower is one of Santa's pets this season. For out of a box, packed with crinkly, crispy paper strands, is pulled a soap ball, larger around than a handball, with a heavy decorative cord through its center. No more mad scrambles around the shower floor after the soap. For this ball hangs around the bather's neck.

For a Nice Smell

For the pretty miss who likes a dreamy dressing room, a perfume lamp is the latest note. A tiny crystal globe shade has a rounded groove at the top for two drops of favorite perfume. The light bulb within heats the perfume, and presto! The sub-deb's room could be any prima donna's—in scents if not dollars.

Musical powder jars set the gift world agog several years ago. But 1935 set the baby's block a-talking. The top of the biggest of a set of graduated cardboard blocks is tipped and a "moo" booms out from a friendly cow. The next one "woofs" like a bear. "Hoink" grunts a little pig from the next toy, and even Joe Penner would gurgle over the "quack" of the smallest one, a duck.

The family's young geologist can have a set of rocks with testing devices for his pleasure. Not only are all trains and automobiles streamlined this season, but for the first time they have whistles and horns.

Little Miss Domestic can have a Colleen Moore doll like the one in the famous doll house and can learn to knit her dolly a sweater with the complete set of yarn and knitting needles and "how-to-make" rules.

If grandma has been given a potted plant for the last 10 years and always welcomes another for Christmas, there's a novelty awaiting her. Bulbs, already planted in a pretty dish, are sealed with moss and other nourishment under celophane. Dainty shells are stored in the package, and all grandma has to do is follow the printed decorations to have a blossoming plant in her front room.

Baby's first Christmas can be an important event with the presentation of the new satin books, all with an extra gift in the same package. Comb and brush sets, thermometers, gold pins and other dainties are included in the gift.

Handkerchiefs can't lead the gift-seeker astray this year. Novelty linens with dog trims, paisley squares, stripes, hand-drawn and lace-trimmed on white linens, gossamer chiffons, to match every dance frock, old-fashioned applique patterns, and small-size editions of linen for "under-fives" with trims of dogs, cats, soldiers, and the popular Mickey Mouse, are being offered.

Le dernier cri for milady is a suede bag with neatly ruffled ends concealing the snuggest of muffs to complete her black ensemble.

The fashionable man traveler will have a brush with comb case under its chromium and black top all in one composite case. The brush is easily removed for washing, too.

And when folks go shopping for "Father" this year, they don't have to be content with sox and ties. Merchants are planning a novelty Christmas for "pop," too.

If he's presented a sweater, it won't be "just a sweater." It will be gay in knit of blue, brown, maroon, or even burgundy. It will have a vest, pointed front with a belted back that has the right number of pleats. "Bolero" is the style for cloth jackets and "gaucho" for leather. Shirts have mesh weaves with button-down collars, spread wide apart, and "no-wilt." Military sets are "in" again, slicker and more decorative than ever. Novelty corks for his favorite Christmas cheer and trim tie racks are in the mode. The well-dressed man this winter always has a thin, chromium chain for keys at one end that fastens to his belt tab. Wallets, tie pressers, cigaret lighters, cocktail coats, collar pins, lounging robes, resplendent ties, leather suspenders, pajamas, and other selections on end are waiting for Dad.

If one wants a gift, practical to the point of keeping the recipient warm," the new Swiss rib women's nighties with high neck, long sleeves, and a string tie guarantee warmth as well as their shell pink prettiness.

To enlist the house in the galaxy of a gay Christmas, the family should have a squint at the new topaz pink opaque glass-ware that's being shown. Novelty oyster-shell vases, aristocratic lamp bases and scores of platters and bon bon dishes are as new as the blue and silver Christmas which decorators declare the 1935 vogue.

And when the Christmas package is tied, it can have a tinkle of its own, for the newest thing is a tiny gift card with a real bell that jingles.

All off for a boisterously merry yuletide.

REBEKAHS HONOR TWO VETERANS AT BROTHERS' NIGHT

As a special observance of Brothers' Night, honors were paid to John Johnson, member for the past 50 years, and Henry Pankey, whose affiliation has extended over 53 years, the oldest member of the lodge, Wednesday night at the meeting of Torosa Rebekah lodge in the K. of C. hall.

A bouquet was presented to each of the honored guests by Fanny Lacy, a past president of the Rebekah assembly and past trustee of the orphan's home. She in turn was given a bouquet by Lucille Rathbone.

Ethel Brown sang two old-time songs.

Brothers served refreshments in the banquet room which had been decorated with red, green and yellow leaves, baby yellow chrysanthemums and candles. M. C. Cooper was in charge of the banquet room. A decorated cake marked the place of each of the veteran brothers and Mrs. Lacy.

Plans were made for the Christmas party which will be held Dec. 23. An exchange of inexpensive gifts has been planned and candy and nuts will be given the attendants.

Wednesday night, Dec. 4, was set as the date of a public card party. Reservations are to be made with Mrs. William Garvin, noble grand, at 2093-R.

OFFICIAL SEEKS TO ADMINISTER IN LOST WILL ESTATE

Declaring that the will has been either lost or destroyed, Public Administrator E. R. Abbey has petitioned the superior court for appointment as administrator of the estate of Mrs. Gertrude L. Graham, formerly of Long Beach, and to admit the will to probate.

In his petition Mr. Abbey said he had turned over a holographic will disposing of Mrs. Graham's $10,000 estate, to District Attorney W. F. Menton. At that time Mr. Menton was assistant district attorney.

An affidavit by Mr. Menton, accompanying the petition, declared that the document had either been lost or destroyed when Mr. Menton moved his office after appointment as district attorney. The will, according to Mr. Menton's affidavit, bequeathed the entire estate to Mrs. Jessie Morrison of Orange, a long-time friend of Mrs. Graham.

C. G. BOAT IN SEA RESCUE

NEWPORT BEACH.—John Gillis, local fisherman, who was missing at sea for 24 hours in his disabled boat, was towed into the harbor at 11 o'clock last night by the coast guard cutter "Hermes" after a long search by airplane and boat for the missing craft.

The fisherman was discovered about 15 miles off Newport last night after his wife had told local police that he was missing. They in turn called coast guard officials. Mr. Gillis said that the motor on his 32-foot boat was disabled.

1300 REBELS IN BRAZIL NABBED

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 29. (AP) The firm hand of Brazil's federal government fell heavily today on the rebel soldiers who enlisted in a short lived Socialistic uprising. At least 1300 were rounded up for court martial. Other plotters were hunted.

The entire nation apparently was under control after the forceful crushing of the revolts in northeastern states and Rio De Janeiro.

YULE'S MUSIC EVENTS ARE ANNOUNCED

Chamber of Commerce Celebration Leader Lists Program

The programs for the first Christmas festival radio broadcasts were announced today by Carl Stein, of Vandermasts, Inc., chairman of the chamber of commerce commitee on music. The Christmas celebration is being sponsored by the retail division of the chamber, of which J. H. Bell is chairman.

The broadcasts will start at 6:45 p. m. Nov. 30 with a girls' vocal trio singing over Radio Station KREG, under the direction of Marijane Belcher. A short talk explaining the Christmas celebration will be given by James Anderson. The broadcast will close at 7 p. m.

Christmas Reading

From 8:45 to 9 p. m. Dec. 1 the program will be provided by a string ensemble directed by Elwood Bear, the high school brass quartet directed by Leland Auer, by Lois Auer, who will give a Christmas reading, and by Dr. Perry Davis, who will talk briefly.

The first program Dec. 2 will be from 11:15 to 11:30 a. m. The junior college brass quartet directed by Mr. Auer will entertain. From 4:40 to 4:45 p. m. a sextet of women's voices and a baritone soloist from the junior college will sing, under direction of Miss Myrtle Martin. From 7 to 7:15 p. m. a string ensemble directed by Rose Marie Flint will play and Le Roy Quick will talk.

Girls to Sing

At 11:15 a. m. Dec. 3 Miss Helen Holmes will play Christmas piano solos. From 4:30 to 4:45 p. m. the junior college girls octet directed by Miss Martin will sing. A short talk will be given by Orville Northrup. From 6:15 to 6:30 p. m. the junior college brass quartet directed by Mr. Auer will entertain, while J. J. Ferris will make a brief talk. From 6:45 to 7 p. m. the junior college male quartet directed by Miss Martin will entertain.

The broadcasts will be resumed Dec. 16 and will continue through Christmas eve.

Forty-eight radios on downtown streets will pick up the music and broadcast it to holiday throngs who will be here to see the Christmas celebration, street decorations and displays of merchandise in store windows.

HIGH COURAGE

SYNOPSIS: Anne Farnsworth has learned that because her foster parents, Luke and Lucinad Farnsworth, had failed to adopt her, she will not inherit their large estate. Her "relatives" plan to drive her from the Farnsworth house, and Rob Crocker, her fiance, has been surprisingly cool and uncommunicative just when she needed him most. But she hopes that tonight he will be himself.

Chapter 14

ROB'S VISIT

But if she was to see Rob tonight she must relax or she'd look wretched.

Anne lay on the sofa and waited for sleep. She had slept only fitfully since that first dreadful night. Now she dozed, tossed, dozed again.

When she awakened the storm had stopped. She arose, went to the wide window and looked out. The sun had broken through the western clouds and was sending the last shafts of light east, to where Mt. Hood's snow-covered peak gleamed lemon-yellow. She looked down at the city roofs, shining with their late drenching at the curving line of the river, visible here and there where the wharves were low.

And then she looked down at her own yard which sloped to a ravine, and caught sight of a familiar car on the driveway which rimmed the ravine. Rob's car. He was there and she had left orders not to be disturbed.

He hadn't waited to telephone. He had rushed to her. Quickly she brushed her hair, wound it in pinwheels over her ears, slipped into a grey dinner frock and hurried out on the long balcony which circled the hall. Rob was just leaving. She started to call to him, but noticed he was talking to her uncle.

Anne stepped to the railing, then caught sight of Sharlee. She couldn't call with that girl listening avidly to every word.

"I am sure you can explain this to Anne."

The girl on the balcony straightened. Was he leaving without having seen her?

"I feel like a rotter about it, but Mr. Farnsworth, it's better to be honest. It's as though I'd fallen in love with one person, then found that person didn't exist. Understand?"

Lee Farnsworth nodded his head, heavily. "Reckon you mean you left knowin' her blood kin, you'd know her. Not knowin' them made her strange-like."

"That's it. That's it exactly. Tell her I'll write her as soon as I reach Chicago, and when I return I'll look her up and we'll know whether or not it's best to go on."

He was going away; going to Chicago and he wasn't taking her. He was leaving her to face everything alone. He was going without even saying goodbye.

"Rob," she whispered the name in an incredulous ton. "Rob!" she muffled the heart-broken cry with her hands as Sharlee stepped forward, passed an arm possessively through Rob's, and went with him through the door.

Anne stepped back into the shadows. She heard the door click, heard Lee Farnsworth go into the library, and heard the clink of brass as he pulled the portieres to. She felt cold, numb, wondered if she had strength enough to reach her room, to turn the key in the door.

"Miss Anne!" Yvonne, who had slipped into an ell of the upper hall when Anne came out on the balcony, rushed forward, "Oh, Miss Anne."

Later Anne remembered being propelled into her room, Yvonne rubbing her feet, Mrs. Harney bustling in to hold her head and smooth the hair back from her brow, Buttons standing insde the closed door alternately insisting that Maggie go below and complete dinner preparations, or asking Harney if there wasn't something, anything, he could do.

"You're coming home with us, lamb," Mrs. Harney informed her. "Buttons and I've talked it over. Between us we've money enough for one of those little chicken ranches out beyond Mt. Scott, so we're marryin' and we'll look after you."

And when the others had gone below, Yvonne came forward with her suggestion. "I did not tell you, Miss Anne, but Lancette D'Orsay, she it is who is cousin to my papa, has ask me to come to Hollywood. She says I can quickly find work with her. We will go. I will work for her until she can find the way to make you the star."

"That's dear of you, Yvonne, but I couldn't let you do that. I'm glad, though that your cousin can help you find a nice position."

Even Maggie lumbered up after dinner was safely served. She brought with her a thumbed brown bank book, showing the sum total of her savings. "Yours to use, Miss Anne. I'd never had thim if Mister Luke hadn't started this. My sister Nora's a widow and that anxious for me to be livin' with her these past few years, so I won't be needin' it."

Warmed by their love and relieved to find each one with a ready haven, Anne faced the realization of Rob Crocker's actions. She could have forgiven him anything but having discussed his feeling for her with another person, and before Sharlee. The burning humility of that was something she couldn't overlook. And he wouldn't face her; couldn't face her. He wasn't man enough.

"I should be glad I've found him out in time. He said 'it's better to be honest.' Well, I can be honest too. He fell in love with the heir to Luke Fanrsworth's fortune and when he found I wasn't the heir . . . oh Rob—"

She had been standing at the window, looking down on the city, misted with twilight, sparking with night lights. Now she swung around into the room. "I've got to get out of here. I can't stand it any longer."

There was a light knock at the door. She opened it and found Buttons, a truly comical look of concern on his face.

"Mrs. Farnsworth says you are to come down and have dinner with the others; that there are to be no more meals sent up here. But Miss Anne, if you want them they'll be served here."

"I don't, Buttons, I couldn't eat another meal here. I'm going out. When Yvonne finishes her dinner have her come up, will you?"

As soon as Buttons closed the door, Anne went to her desk. She'd need her bank book. Yvonne could burn her personal letters and save the few receipts she had filed there. Harney would have the most important ones. There were notes to pen to her six best friends, girls who were to have been her bridesmaids. She owed it to them to tell them what had happened.

Brief notes they were, and Anne wrote them with her lips set in a firm, straight line—"find I am only the foster daughter of Luke and Lucinda Farnsworth, and as such, do not share in the will. Under the circumstances I have decided to break my engagement with Robert Crocker. Forgive the brevity of this, I will write you later when I know more of my future."

Yvonne came in and Anne turned to her. "Pack my overnight bag, and one of the larger ones. A couple of street dresses and hats and lingerie. Then my trunks, and Yvonne, there are several evening frocks you've admired; keep those for yourself. Better get them out of the house tonight."

Anne dressed ina warm street suit, then sat down to write her last note, this time to Judge Kellogg. In her moment of longing to escape she had decided upon her course.

Deal Judge: I am slipping away from here tonight, but please do not worry about me. I feel my old nurse, Tecla Sorki, of Astoria, knows something about me. I am going to her and I am depending upon you to keep my whereabouts a secret. You are the only person left whom I can trust.

Please send for my trunks and keep them with the boxes you have told Harney to pack. The list of trunks and the keys are enclosed. I will send for them as soon as I know where I will settle.

Enclosed, also, is the ring Robert Crocker gave me. Please return it to him for me. I have not seen him to talk to since I told him what you told me. However, I overheard him tell Uncle Lee that he was going to Chicago and we would discuss whether or not marriage was advisable upon his return. This will relieve him of the Chicago trip. I thought he loved me. It seems it was Luke Farnsworth's heir he loved.

Do not worry about me, Judge. I will promise to do nothing definite without first consulting you. I also promise to do nothing that Luke and Lucinda would be ashamed to have me do.

Sincerely, Anne.

"Yvonne," she turned from her desk, "please take this box, which contains a letter to Judge Kellogg, to his home as soon as I leave the house. I want these other letters mailed special delivery.

"In this envelope is a check which will cover your fare to Hollywood and give you enough to live on until your cousin finds work for you. Send me your address through Judge Kellogg."

(Copyright, 1935, by Jeanne Bowman)

LANTERN SLIDES TO ILLUSTRATE TALK AT ADULT CLASS

"This World of Ours by President Liners" will be the subject for the travel class of the Adult Education night school in Frances Willard auditorium at 7 o'clock Monday evening, Dec. 2, as announced today by Julia Ann Hyde, Commercial National bank travel bureau, who arranges for the speakers.

One hundred and fifty colored lantern slides embracing a trip around the world will be shown. The famous Palm Springs artist, Stephen H. Willard, after completing a trip aboard the President liners, prepared this series representing typical colorings of world wonders and flamboyant tropical lands. Mr. Willard personally photographed each picture as well as coloring the slides.

This series will bring before the eyes of the audience vivid impressions of neighbors bordering the other extremity of the Pacific. Scintillating flashes of Diamond Head, guardian of Hawaii, Sacred Fujiyama—China with her teeming millions and novel river population, the Isle of Capri and the bold headlands of Sorrento, have been included.

Ronald De Long, traveling passenger agent of the Dollar Steamship lines, accompanies this series with interesting description in travelogue form for this one hour program.

The public is cordially invited.

FAILURE PERCENTAGE SHOWS DECREASE AT HIGH SCHOOL

In only three fields did students at Santa Ana High school have a higher percentage of failure over that of the previous semester, according to reports issued this week by W. M. Clayton, vice principal, for the semester ending June 14, 1935.

Manual arts, music and physical education increased their failures, home economics remained the same, while the eight other departments lowered the number of failures.

Under the auspices of the Nazi Beauty in Work offices, 13,500,000 marks have been spent to improve and beautify 1,700 Berlin working places.

SAFETY SESSION TO BE DEC. 18

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. (AP)—December 18 has been set by Secretary Roper for the presidentially-approved conference on ways and means to make accident prevention more effective.

He has sent to members of the conference a 12-page questionnaire, relating to causes and remedies, cooperation with railroads and the automobile industry, education, home accidents, and accidents in the air and on the sea.

The Italio-Ethiopian war has increased the demand for stamps from Italy and Ethiopia among stamp collectors.

PREDICTS HEAVY CHRISTMAS TRADE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. (AP)—Secretary Roper has predicted Christmas trade this year would run 10 to 25 per cent over last year.

"There is no question about the fact we are out of the depression," he said.

FRED ASTAIRE ONLY ACTOR NAMED IN 'TEN BEST DRESSED MEN'

LIST LED BY BUSINESS FIGURES

Edsel Ford, Marshal Field, R. K. Mellon And Others Picked

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. (AP)—America's sartorial pace-setters are its business leaders, a group of New York's leading tailors agreed today in picking a list of 10 best dressed men.

Hollywood contributed only one actor—nimble footed Fred Astaire.

The 10 leaders, drawn from a composite selection by recognized style authorities:

1. Edsel Ford, Detroit auto manufacturer.
2. William Rhinelander Stewart, New York real estate operator.
3. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, New York and Philadelphia socialite.
4. William Goadby Loew, New York broker.
5. Adolphus Busch, II, of the St. Louis brewing family.
6. Marshall Field, Chicago merchant.
7. Isaac Newton Perry, Chicago financier.
8. Richard K. Mellon, Pittsburgh, nephew of Andrew Mellon.
9. Walter D. Teague, New York industrial designer.
10. Fred Astaire, the dancer-actor.

Movies Help Astaire

Astaire's high rating is attributable to his recent pictures, especially "Top Hat," one tailor said.

"He has done more this year to encourage the wearing of tailcoats than anybody else," this tailor said.

Astaire, however, also is a careful dresser out of pictures. He has a yen for neckties, with hundreds of them in his wardrobe.

How They're Sized Up

Edsel Ford was cited as a perfectly dressed business executive. William Rhinelander Stewart was called by one stylist "the outstanding man in a dinner suit" in New York. "Tony" Biddle has "a great variety of clothes for any occasion and knows how to wear them." William Goadby Loew was called the "Beau Brummel of Wall street."

The tailors said Busch shows "great versatility in dress for business and social life." He wears a gray topper at steeplechase events.

Marshall Field is known for the "meticulous attention he pays to all the details of dress." Perry is "sophisticated in his formal evening attire and in his outing attire."

Richard K. Mellon, nephew of Andrew Mellon, is "outstanding for his hunting and outdoor attire." Teague is "very original in his selection of clothes," and is known for the individuality of his attire.

Seaplane Skipper

SECURITY ACT RULES MADE

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 29. (AP)—The state unemployment insurance commission nas issued temporary regulations calling upon employers to prepare detailed reports of payroll records by Feb. 1.

The action, taken after a subcommittee headed by Samuel Leask, jr., Santa Cruz merchant, had drawn up a tentative set of rules and regulations for administration of the new secial security act, will be subject to revision after further study.

The commission indicated it would confer with employers and employes, as well as making a study of practices elsewhere, before laying down any permanent administrative structure.

LATHROP P.-T. A. DISCUSSES HEALTH

Participating in a health panel, 35 members of Lathrop Junior High school Parent-Teacher association gathered Tuesday afternoon at the school.

Mrs. Neal Beisel, the Rev. W. S. Buchanan and Mrs. E. H. Elsner led the forum. A discussion of the need for the Lathrop auditorium, to be voted upon at the forthcoming bond election, was held by the association, and a concerted effort toward campaigning for the election agreed upon.

Lathrop's recent carnival was acclaimed a successful venture.

On the program which Mrs. Richard Metz had prepared, Lorraine Griset gave a Thanksgiving reading.

Refreshments were served by a committee including Mrs. Ernest Ashland, Mrs. Jack Titchenal and Mrs. O. V. Barton.

RNA CHAPTER STAGES PARTY

Games and refreshments followed the meeting of Golden State, Royal Neighbors of America, Wednesday night, held in the K. of C. hall.

Mrs. Esther Morse was in charge of the games. Mrs. Marjorie Boyd and Mrs. Hart Pennington served refreshments.

A Christmas party is to be held Dec. 27 in the K. of C. hall.

Jean Hersholt Studies Dafoe For 'Quints' Film

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 29. (AP)—The strange experience of studying, in the flesh, the character he will portray in a motion picture, lay just ahead of Jean Hersholt, veteran film actor, today.

By way of preparing for his characterization, he said he planned to study the celebrated Canadian physician in the flesh.

DIRIGIBLE TO VISIT CITY SATURDAY

Craft Will Advertise Benefit Event At March Field

The TC-13, America's largest army dirigible, is scheduled to soar over Santa Ana between 11 a. m. and 1 p. m. tomorrow. The silver ship also will fly over the other principal cities of Orange county to call attention to the army relief benefit program to be staged at March Field tomorrow.

The giant, non-rigid airship is a newcomer to the Pacific coast and is stationed at Moffett Field, Sunnyvale, where it is assigned to the 19th airship squadron. It is 235 feet long, 65 feet high and holds 365,000 cubic feet of gas. It has a crew of two officers and five enlisted men.

Expect 20,000 At Event

Several parachute jumps will be features of the March Field program tomorrow.

Officials of the army flying post near Riverside are anticipating a crowd of 20,000 persons for the benefit program to be staged between 11 a. m. and 4:30 p. m. Windshield stickers for admission are being sold by Boy Scouts of Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties.

Other Features

Airplane maneuvers, an athletic program, motion pictures showing early types of airplane equipment, and inspection of the March Field buildings will be features of the program.

Proceeds from sale of windshield stickers will be divided between Boy Scout troops participating in the sale, and the Army Relief society, an organization devoted to aid of destitute widows and minor children of deceased soldiers.

Pioneer Tells When Quail Were So Plentiful Hunter Killed 24 With One Shot

By JOHN B. JOPLIN

This yarn is not written with the intention of making the fellows who have to pay $2 for a hunting license and then come back from an all-day hunt with maybe one lonesome quail envious. It is written chiefly with the idea of adding to the large amount of Orange county historical data which "The Old Timer," Roch Bradshaw and Ted Stephenson have been gathering for The Journal's files, the reading of which has been greatly enjoyed by many of us old-timers.

The material that I am referring to will be of real value, say 50 years from now. In 1985, when The Journal starts publishing a 50 Years Ago column., things we are doing today will be of equal interest.

In an Old-Timers' hunting story, published in The Journal in June, I rather boasted about Tomato Springs as being a hunter's paradise during the early days in Orange county. I failed to mention at that time the Gubernadora canyon, one of the most wonderful quail and dove hunting sections in the country during the '80's and '90's.

Much Hunting Ground

Of course, there were plenty of good hunting grounds in the county then, too. There were the Mission Viejo and Trabuco ranchos, Bell, Trabuco and many other canyons. There is one in particular, the Canada Chiquita, or Little canyon, that I remember. It was a twin to Gubernadora canyon. There was also a lot of hunting done in San Juan canyon.

The Gubernadora is a side canyon of the San Juan canyon. It is only about seven miles in length, and opens into San Juan canyon at a point about half way between San Juan Capistrano and the San Juan Hot Springs. It is close to a mile wide, and has many little ravines or arroyos separated by lazy, sloping side ridges, covered with sage brush and cactus, running into it.

A small stream of water runs down through the entire length of Gubernadora, and this stream, with the abundance of natural feed along its banks, makes the place ideal for hunting. The cactus and sagebrush in the canyon was an ideal breeding ground for the native quail, and as far back as 1890 the whole canyon literally swarmed with them. There was always a covy or two in every side canyon along the stream. Ducks, too—plump teal and fat mallards—frequently flocked to the canyon during the fall and winter seasons. There were always plenty of rabbits and doves in the canyon.

Many Hunted There

During these years, the Adkinson boys, Oliver and Ed, John and George Cook, Frank and George Rowell, Frank Harvey, Ed Groover, Lemuel and Louis Robertson, Ed Utt, Will Wall, A. H. Lyon, my two brothers, Andrew and Allie, and I, as well as many others, hunted every season in Gubernadora for many years.

The San Juan Capistrano shotgun carriers, the Forsters, Mendelsons, Joe Oliveras, Bill English, Burt Stephenson, and Mart Hubbard, did some hunting in the Gubernadora, but for the most part did their quail shooting in the Canada Chiquita.

The Parker brothers, Ed and Clarence, Andrew Harris, George Bessonett, and his son, Ed, were great quail hunters during these years, and liked to get into the Gubernadora where the birds were so plentiful.

No Closed Season

In those days, there wasn't such a thing as a closed season, and we didn't know what a game warden looked like. When we happened to run across an O'Neal ranch rider, he was more apt to tell us where an extra big covy of quail could be found than to tell us to get off of the place. Not so today.

The biggest quail kill at one shot that I have ever heard of was made in the Gubernadora canyon in 1886 by Orie P. Lockhart, now a resident of Los Angeles, a son of one of the early pioneers of Orange county, and a nephew of the two quail shooting Parker brothers. Lockhart was coming out of the canyon just before dark one evening when he sighted a bunch of quail dusting themselves in the path ahead of him. He fired one shot from his .12 guage shotgun into the mass of birds, and he and his brother picked up 24 or 25 dead quail. In a recent letter from Mr. Lockhart, he tells me it was 25. I saw the birds he killed myself, and have always remembered the number as 24, but after 49 years, I would not care to start an argument with him over one quail.

They Gave It a Try

In later years, a good many hunters from Santa Ana, after the Tomato Spring section had been hunted out, heard of Gubernadora and decided to give it a try. Among Santa Anans who used to frequent the Gubernadora were Judge Z. B. West, Jim Turner, James Sleeper, Clarence and Conrad Crookshank, Frank and Ernest Madden, George Spangler, Justice of the Peace C. C. Cravath of Laguna Beach, Vic Walker, Tom Hill, Johnnie Lacy, Ed Vegley, Charles Monaghan, Neal Brook, Howard Turner and L. L. Vestal.

The best quail hunters ever to go into Gubernadora or the Tomato Springs region were Clarence Parker, my brother, Andrew Joplin, and Ed Adkinson, father of County Superintendents of Schools Ray Adkinson. Ed Adkinson has been county game warden for a number of years. These three men, so far as I know, killed most of their quail with .22 caliber rifles, and were recognized as great deer hunters and crack rifle shots.

43 With a Rifle

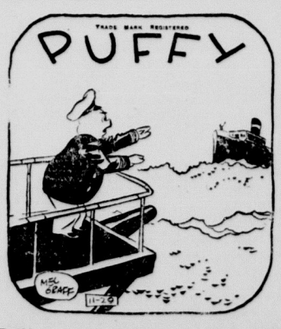

My brother were especially good with a small bore rifle, and I have known him, with the help of a well trained collie dog who worked the birds into trees and retrieved as fast as Andrew could shoot them, to kill as many as 43 quail in one afternoon with a single shot .22 caliber rifle.

For several years I have heard rumors of a county road to be constructed down through the Gubernadora, connecting the Trabuco canyon road with the San Juan Hot Springs road. I hope it will be built some day, if for no other reason than to show modern hunters and those of future generations what I consider was the greatest quail hunting ground Orange county ever had. The thoroughfare will of course be lined with four-strand barbed wire fences, but sightseers can see what a paradise for quail hunters it must have been at one time, and I am glad to say that I got my share of shooting there when it was the best.

P.-T. A. COUNCIL TO MEET TUESDAY

The Santa Ana Council of Parents and Teachers will meet Tuesday morning, Dec. 3, at 9:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the Spurgeon school.

Executive board members are urged to attend by Mrs. John J. Mills, president.

BIGGER FARM CROPS ARE PREDICTED

More Money For Corn Belt Farmers Seen After Survey

DES MOINES, Nov. 29. (AP)—Midwest agricultural experts compared notes today and predicted bigger crops and more money for corn belt farmers in 1936.

Briefly, a survey of farm leader opinion in the nation's bread basket gave this picture of 1936 farm prospects:

Total farm income slightly above 1935.

Less need for long-term credit, but a stronger demand for short-term loans.

More Hogs Seen

An increase in hog production which will bring the output to near normal levels by the fall of 1936.

A slightly higher average price for hogs during the 1935-36 marketing year.

A slight increase in corn production, but no important change in output of other feed grain crops.

With average yields, a slight increase in wheat production over 1935.

Purchasing Power

An increase in the number of grain fed cattle, with a moderate decline in fat cattle prices during the late winter and spring.

An expected 10 per cent increase in consumer ability to buy farm products, due to improved business conditions, is the economic balance wheel expected to hold up farm prices. Little if any improvement in foreign demand for corn belt farm products is anticipated.

Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, predicted a "good increase" in farm income next year.

TWAIN EXHIBIT AT HUNTINGTON LIBRARY

In remembrance of the birth, 100 years ago Nov. 30, in Florida, Mo., of the American humorist, Samuel Langhorne Clemens, who wrote under the pen-name of "Mark Twain," the Huntington library at San Marino is showing a small exhibit composed of letters, manuscripts and first editions, including "Adventures of Tom Sawyer" (1876), "Huckleberry Finn" (1885), "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" (1889) and "Pudd'nhead Wilson" (1894). The exhibit opens on the anniversary date tomorrow, and will remain on view for one month.

An unusual feature of the exhibit is the group of manuscripts centering on "The Gilded Age," which Mark Twain began writing in jest with Charles Dudley Warner.

'Santa Claus'

Pearl V. Williams, Red Cross nurse assigned to the Matanuska colony in Alaska, will be Santa Claus for the children of the settlement because when she sails she will take along Christmas gifts. (Associated Press photo.)

ELKS STAGING MEMORIAL

Heading the month's activities, Elks lodge No. 794 will hold annual memorial services for deceased members at 3 p. m. at the Episcopal Church of the Messiah Sunday.

John A. Miller will be chairman of the rites. Officers and members of the lodge will participate in the ritual. The Rev. W. J. Hatter will deliver the address, and the Elks' double quartet will sing "God Shall Wipe Away All Tears," by Caro Roma. "Auld Lang Syne" will be sung by the audience before dismissal by Chaplain Ridley C. Smith.

Highlighting the social calendar will be the Christmas party Dec. 17 at the clubhouse. A turkey dinner, Christmas tree, gifts, vaudeville show and dancing until 1 a. m. are scheduled. Friends will be invited to the event.

Next Friday has been set for the December card party of the Elks' wives at 2 p. m. Southern Orange county night will be observed Dec. 10, under Chairman B. W. Osterman.

SET CLIPPER HOP DATE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. (AP)—The postoffice department announced that the second flight over the Trans-Pacific air mail route would begin at Alameda, Calif., Dec. 6.

The flight will be to Honolulu, Guam, Manila, P. I. and return. The return trip will start Dec. 16. No passengers will be carried.

A. R. Finley Family Follows Tradition In Assembling for Thanksgiving Reunion

Col. S. H. Finley Home Scene of Party Attended By 51

Holiday Spirit Prevails in Other Homes Throughout Community; Many Out-of-Town Festivities Attract Some Groups

Tradition was honored yesterday.

Ever since 1878, when Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Finley came from Sacramento and settled in Santa Ana, Thanksgiving day has brought together in Santa Ana members of their family, including those left behind in Sacramento and Chicago and those in the Southland.

As younger members of the family were married and had homes of their own, the custom has changed to meeting each Thanksgiving in one of these homes.

Yesterday the family, numbering 51 children, grandchildren and great grandchildren was loyal once more to the custom that so long ago originated in the old A. R. Finley home. Every living member of the family was present for a party at the home of Col. S. H. Finley and Mrs. Finley, 1633 East Fourth street.

Present were the families of S. H. Finley, Donald Swarthout (Gailene Finley), Wendell Finley, Mrs. Emma McBride, E. B. Sprague, Leslie McBride, A. G. Finley, Harold, James and Leland Finley, Floyd Blower (Margaret Finley), Steele Finley, Harold Woods Finley, Harold Lindsay (Carolyn Finley) and Clifford Marston (Ruth Finley).

Other members of the family group included Bernice McBride, Los Angeles; Rhodes Finley, Lulu B. Finley and Miss Esther Dunn, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. William Hedges, Hollywood; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Moore, Alex and Edgar Moore, Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McBride, Julian, Calif.

James Irvines Hosts

Mr. and Mrs. James Irvine entertained in their home Thanksgiving, with a party for Mrs. Irvine's father, James Davis, and Mr. and Mrs. Milford Irvine, Misses Katherine Irvine and Prudence Roberts, and a few additional friends.

Guests Feted in Home

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. White had a dinner party in their home on North Broadway for Fred Keeler and daughters, Doris and Marjorie, of Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Shaw of Hollywood and their own family, Emrys and Nancy.

Assemble at Laguna

A dozen members of their family circle were bidden by Mr. and Mrs. Sam W. Nau of Tustin to the always pleasant Hotel Laguna for a Thanksgiving dinner, and last evening returned for a buffet supper at the Nau home.

Go to Los Angeles

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Betten of Olive street spent the holiday visiting relatives in Los Angeles.

Kingreys Have Group

Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Kingrey's dinner guests at their home on Beverly drive included yesterday Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Leh and Barbara and Marcus of Beverly Hills, and Kenneth and Doral of the home.

Play Party Hosts

Wheeler Clan Gathers

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wheeler in Orange had as dinner guests, Mr. and Mrs. George Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wheeler and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Horal, Santa Ana.

McKee Family Festive

Mr. and Mrs. T. P. McKee and their daughter, Alice, 1303 South Flower, are having much festivity this week. Yesterday they and Mrs. James McKee and daughters, Mrs. Rulon Bartschi and Miss Dorothy McKee of Montpelier, Idaho, who arrived this week to visit the McKees, were Thanksgiving guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Horn, he is a member of the Chapman college faculty. Today all excepting Mr. McKee went to San Diego, and tomorrow they will to go Catalina Island. Lloyd and Robert Horn were also at the dinner.

W. B. Williams' Hosts

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Williams entertained yesterday in their home, 1502 North Main street, with a turkey dinner, guests including members of Mrs. Williams' family. Present were her mother, Mrs. Laura Bowen of Orange, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. S. Thompson and daughter, Rachel Ann, and Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Cobb and their son, from Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson, Santa Ana.

Party in Fullerton

Mrs. Arthur W. Miller of Fullerton hostessed at a Thanksgiving dinner for 16 friends yesterday in Fullerton.

Entertain Family

Mr. and Mrs. Holmes Bishop of Fairhaven avenue were hosts yesterday at a family dinner, guests including Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bishop and son, DeWitt, Mr. and Mrs. Fern Bishop and son, Billy, and their own sons, Gordon and Noble.

Entertain Group

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Granas, Sanitago street, yesterday were hosts to Mrs. R. Baer and Miss Florence Baer of Los Angeles and their own daughters, Beatrice and Audrey, for a holiday party in their home.

Rowland Tribe Rallies

Dr. Elliott H. Rowland and Mrs. Rowland entertained in their home, 2418 Fairmont street, with a party for members of the Rowland tribe. Those present were their daughters, Jean and Betty, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hopkins, Harvey Hugh and Ruth Hopkins, Mrs. C. F. Crose, Miss Ruth Rowland, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rowland, Miss Barbara Rowland, Mr. and Mrs. J. Russel Wilson, Barbara Joan Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Earl T. Rowland, Victor Rowland, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Rowland and David Hill.

Wilsons Have Party

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Wilson, 1215 West First street, had as holiday dinner guests Miss Edna Wilson, Loren and Clayton Wilson, and Mrs. Dorothy Close and children, Arthur and Sharon.

Dine at Tearoom

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Newcomb of East Santa Clara avenue entertained with a dinner party at the Doris Kathryn tearoom. Guests included their son, Fred, home from Whittier college, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schmetgen and family, Mrs. Albert Heinecke and family, Robert Newcomb and Mrs. Minnie Hockemeyer.

Entertain Group

Mr. and Mrs. Carlyle Bennett of Orange avenue entertained as guests at their Thanksgiving dinner yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dennis and daughters, Ruth and Helen, Mr. and Mrs. J. Albert Dennis and Mr. and Mrs. George Lamb.

Entertain Group

Dr. Frank Paterson and Mrs. Paterson entertained in their home on Heliotrope drive with a party for Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Paterson and son, Dale, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Shearer.

Now at Idyllwild

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dierker, Miss Elizabeth Spohr, Mr. and Mrs. John Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Deardorff and daughter, Glenna Jean, Mary Louise and Frederick Dierker and Jack and Howard Gould are spending the rest of the week at Idyllwild in the Deardorff cabin.

Son Home for Day

PATTERN 9503

Bedtime just can't come around too fast for the 'teen-age Junior Miss who knows these comfy pajamas are awaiting her. In fact she's apt to have them on ahead of time, just because they give her such a "grown-up" feeling, and the trousers have so sleek a swish. She hopes you're just a bit envious of that tricky double-breasted jacket, with its notched collar and smart patch pockets. The ensemble's an easy one to make, too—so easy a junior could make it herself. Cotton corduroy's best for a lounging version—flannel, broadcloth or crepe for sleeping. Complete, diagrammed Marian Martin sew chart included.

Pattern 9503 may be ordered only in sizes 6, 8, 10, 12, 14 and 16. Size 12 requires 4¼ yards 39 inch fabric.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern.

Send today for our pattern book for winter! See how easily and thriftily you can make attractive clothes for yourself and family, and what lovely yet simple gifts you can make for Christmas. Learn how you can choose and wear your clothes for greater charm! Price of book 15 cents. Book and pattern together, 25 cents.

HARVEST MOTIF TAKEN BY STUDENTS AT HOLIDAY BALL

Fall colors flanked the walls of the Santa Ana High school gymnasium Wednesday evening when the Harvest ball, sponsored by service clubs, was held there. A cornucopia centered the decorations.

Miss Marian Bruner was in charge of the punch bowl. Turkey prizes went to Betty Jo Willets and Mac Beal.

Making the dance floor a gala scene were Mary Henderson in navy blue taffeta . . . Barbara Speed in azure blue taffeta . . . Mrs. Jack Swarthout, a patroness, in black chiffon . . . Ruth Curren in black chiffon velvet . . . Geraldine Gilbert, general chairman of the affair and president of Entre Nous, in orange gold moire . . . Margaret Lawrence in flame crepe . . . Maryann Newcomer in blue satin.

HAPPY PARENTS ARE CONGRATULATED

Mr. and Mrs. Al Rosenberg are being congratulated on the birth of their son, born in St. Vincent's hospital, Los Angeles, Wednesday morning.

Yes, washing and everything—but Beautiful Hands keeps them smooth as velvet.

Beautiful Hands

Neutralizes all harsh deposits left on your hands after housework . . . cleans deep into the pores . . . and ends that rough, red, "housework" look. Use Beautiful Hands faithfully for just one week, after all dish washing, laundering, gardening, etc., and you'll be delighted with your lovely hands.

Annual Ball Is Held By Phi Sigs

It was "welcome home" for many an alumn Wednesday evening at the Lakewood country club in Long Beach when Phi Sigmas of Alpha Alpha chapter, Santa Ana, fraternized at their annual Thanksgiving Eve semi-formal ball.

At the door was President Paul Beckman, greeting the "brothers." From a wide variety of sweet pea shoulder corsages in pastel shades, guests of the members chose their floral favors in color complement to their frocks.

Miss Edna Laughlin, guest of the president, wore a long black crepe with a splash of red velvet at the waist-line.

Bill Meyers, San Gabriel, national president of the fraternity, was present with Mrs. Meyers, who had chosen a pink crepe, long-sleeved frock edged in royal purple chiffon. Clyde Cannon, past national president, Whittier, also attended, with Mrs. Cannon wearing a red crepe, tunic style frock.

In a Sciaparelli accent, the green, gold-metal-shot decollete frock, chosen by Miss Margaret Guard had a wide gold belt at the waist, an accordion-pleated skirt, and angular bows at the shoulder. Miss Mary Malsted completed a striking henna dinner dress with a head-band of gold leaves. Miss Jane King wore a train-effect moire in green.

Green taffeta was chosen by Miss Jean Rowland, with sister Betty in a frilly black frock. Mrs. Herbert Hill topped a smart black skirt with a velvet blouse of cerise.

Tiny ruffles edged the black lace net chosen by Miss June Arnold, whose blond curls were caught with golden rosebuds to match her dancing sandals. Minute-size buttons caught the long-sleeved, fitted rust frock worn by Miss Eloise Bradley.

C. S. WARNERS ENTERTAIN AT FAMILY DINNER

Mrs. C. S. Warner's family was well represented at a dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warner, 518 Eastside, yesterday in celebration of the Thanksgiving holiday.

At the table were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Fettle, El Modena, Mrs. Warner's mother and father, Mrs. Henrietta Reep, El Modena, grandmother of the hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Fettle of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Fettle, and small son, Donald, San Diego, and the Misses Henrietta and Hazel Fettle, Orange, Herbert Woodward, Orange, and Mrs. J. E. Green, Fullerton.

TRI-Y TO CONTINUE "ME" PROJECT

Continuing their "Making the Most of Me" project, Tri-Y members will gather at 7 o'clock Monday night in the Y. W. C. A. rooms for a discussion under the Rev. Samuel Ortegon of Los Angeles.

A young Spaniard Baptist minister, the Rev. Mr. Ortegon, will talk on "Giving Up Myself." Mrs. Paul Lebanoff opened the series of lectures last week with a talk on "Discovering Myself."

The group will divide into hobby sections for handicraft, dramatics and music at the close of the talk.

WORKING GIRLS HAVE THANKSGIVING DINNER PARTY

Wrycende Maegdenu diverted from a program of business and entertainment to have a party Tuesday night in the Y. W. C. A. rooms.

In the Thanksgiving spirit, a turkey dinner began the evening. Baskets of friut centered the tables on which long center strips of vari-colored papers had been spread. Miss Grace Alberts was in charge of decorations.

Court whist was played to conclude the program with prizes going to Miss Maurine Dalton and Miss Alberta Greene. Doughnuts and cider and candies were served for refreshments. Miss Elsie Siemsen, assisted by Miss Dorothy Lindsey, served.

The Thinkers

Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women.

Do you favor a course in "humor" in our school, similar to the one now in force in the Denver schools?

Mrs. J. H. Daniger: I don't think anybody in the world could have too much training in a sense of humor. Many, many people are too serious. I don't know, however, whether it's a trait which can be acquired by trainnig.

Mrs. E. A. Elwell: I think people take things too seriously. It seems to me a sense of humor should come naturally, but perhaps some children could benefit by such a course.

Mrs. David Meyer: I think it's a good thing. I've never had too much of a sense of humor, and I think it's nice to encourage more of it in children. Some few people in the world are naturally talented in that way, and others are not at all. Such a course should help sensitive people a great deal.

"Bill" Is In Danger of Being "Left In the Lurch" If He Stays By Woman Divorcing Husband

By MARY STODDARD

"Bill" needs to be careful is the belief of a woman reader who has three marriages and knows about men. "Bill," you may remember, is the boy who loves a girl whose husband is suing for divorce. She's still in love with the husband but "Bill" wants to take care of her and protect her love now that the husband is deserting her.

The triple-married woman's letter follows:

Dear Miss Stoddard: In answer to "Bill" and his problem. I want to say—"Be careful." Her husband may still love her and when the divorce papers are about to be served he will say to Mrs. Nineteen that Mr. Thirty still loves her and if she loves him, she will go back to him. This is not supposition, as I have known of that very thing happening several times in similar cases.

The best thing you can do, since you love the girl, is to be a kind and considerate friend to her. Let her know how you feel about her and show her what you can and will do for her.

It is my idea that her husband is just spiteful toward her, and knowing that she loves him, is just giving her a merry-go-round.

I have been married three times, but at last I am happy with my first boy friend, the one that I thought I could never even talk to, let alone marry. MRS. W. W. C.

Rogers' Last Picture Here

The picture is a drama of pounding hoofs and racing hearts in the romantic blue-grass country. Dorothy Wilson, Russell Hardie, Charles Sellon, Louise Henry and the tap-dancing genius, Bill Robinson, are members of the cast.

Will Rogers takes the part of a shrewd and philosophical horseman who is intermediary between two feuding families. Through a series of hilarious adventures, he guides the romance of two sweethearts whose families are on the outs, until the race track climax brings a surprise ending that smooths the paths of the lovers.

BAPTIST WOMEN EXECUTIVES MEET

Because the regular date came too close to Thanksgiving, the executive board of the woman's society of the First Baptist church met Tuesday, Nov. 26, at the church.

Yellow pompon chrysanthemums and cotoneaster decorated the rooms.

The president, Miss Lula Minter, brought a Thanksgiving message from a seldom-quoted passage in Habakkuk. "Jesus Is All the World to Me" was sung and Mrs. R. E. McBurney led in prayer. During the business meeting plans were made for the next regular meeting, Dec. 4, which will be a family night dinner, at 6 p. m., honoring high school seniors and junior college students, affiliated with the church or church school.

Mrs. Earl Glenn, white cross chairman, had a varied display of articles and garments made or donated by the women for work among Indians, Mexicans, Chinese and Japanese of California and Nevada.

Christmas gifts which have been sent to the special missionary representatives of this church were announced.

The next executive meeting will be held Tuesday, Dec. 31, at the church parlors, at 1:30.

At the close of the meeting, tea was served by a committee including Mrs. R. C. Crouse, Mrs. R. H. Martin, Mrs. C. A. Knowlton and Mrs. Harry Fink.

GLENNDIN CONTRACT CLUB FORMED BY SANTA ANA GROUP

Eight Santa Ana contract bridge enthusiasts met this week in the home of Mrs. Ashel Hardy, Harbor boulevard, and formed a new club, the Glenndin contract club.

Mrs. Lloyd Folger and Mrs. H. H. Dimmitt won contract prizes.

Mrs. Hardy served dessert. Mrs. Milt Johnson was a guest for the day.

CHEESE ON SPROUTS

Brussels sprouts are immensely improved by the addition of cheese sauce. American cheese melted in a white sauce will do the trick.

JOHN MUIR P.-T. A. HOLDS MEETING

John Muir Parent-Teacher association members gathered Tuesday afternoon in the kindergarten room of the school for their November meeting.

Mrs. Max Holmes talked on the origin of the Tuberculosis seal and explained the work accomplished by the Orange county association.

A demonstration of class work by Miss Alice Grimshaw's fourth grade students was the presentation of an original play on the early history of California. The students had not only written the play but had made their own costumes.

Following the business meeting, refreshments were served by a committee including Mrs. Arnold Jones and Mrs. Wayne Tibbs.

Holiday Eve Chosen For Dance

Mrs. William H. Penn, chairman of the event, led off the colorful array of swank frocks chosen by the dancers, by wearing a tomato crepe formal. Mrs. Cy Featherly wore a red crepe with rhinestone trim.

In the popular 1935 blouse and skirt combination, Mrs. Harold Carnahan was a smart figure in a black crepe skirt with a green blouse. Black moire with a green trim was worn by Mrs. Russell Hardcastle. A lei of white flowers accentuated the neckline of the black satin dress worn by Mrs. Clay Minnix. Mrs. Clarence Sackerson wore a soft brown velvet with demure short sleeves.

'WAR SCARE' BRINGS DROP IN STOCKS

Leading Issues Down One To Three Points In Quick Downturn

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. (AP)—After a fairly resistant two hours, a heavy selling wave hit the stock market today and leading issues dropped 1 to around 3 points.

Grave apprehension over the foreign situation was said to have induced liquidation of many of the recent favorites. The ticker tape fell behind floor transactions at the worst of the downturn.

Western Union lost 3 points and other conspicuous losers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Du Pont, Westinghouse, Loew's, Consolidated Gas, Montgomery Ward, Great Northern and Santa Fe.

Renewed tension between Italy and Great Britain over the oil embargo controversy served to cause uneasiness in bullish quarters. It was feared that if the two nations should go to war, world economic conditions would be dealt a severe blow.

SCHOOL BOND VOTE URGED BY LEADER

Guy J. Gilbert, recently appointed head of the citizens' committee to campaign for passage of the school bond election to be held in Santa Rna Dec. 12, issued a statement today, saying: "I know that under our present tent arrangement that the health of the children is impaired, but I believe also that we will all agree that parents of children seeking their education will not locate as newcomers in Santa Ana while this condition exists."

Mr. Gilbert's full statement follows:

His Statement

"I have always felt that proper housing and health conditions in our schools should be a matter of great importance to all citizens of Santa Ana. Not only do I know that under our present tent arrangement that the health of our children is impaired, but I believe also that we will all agree that parents of children seeking their education will not locate as newcomers in Santa Ana while this condition exists.

"I have been asked to head this school bond campaign and have agreed to spend my time from now until the votes are cast on Dec. 12 in the task of bringing to our people such information as will be necessary that they may go to the polls and cast their ballot in a way that they believe is most proper, feeling that a careful investigation of the subject by our registered voters will bring to our children the two-thirds necessary favorable vote.

"This I do know, that the state law governing the housing of our children in the schools is very explicit, and the school board members are personally liable should a catastrophe result from the collapse of a building where the school board's attention has been called to the fact that the building is unsafe.

"They hope to correct this unsafe condition and there are two ways in which it can be done, one is by the proposed long time bond issue with a very low yearly expense to the taxpayer. Another alternative our school board has is by a direct tax which would mean considerable hardship to many of us.

"Give your opinion at the polls as to which you believe to be the better way."

FREE BEET MEN FROM PLEDGE

Beet growers who signed an agreement pledging them not to accept sugar company contracts for 1936 will be released from these agreements. A joint committee of the farm bureau beet growers' department and the Orange County Beet Growers association met Wednesday at the farm bureau office and decided to frame a letter to growers informing them of this release.

Last Friday at a meeting in the farm bureau hall many growers expressed dissatisfaction with the existing contracts and said they do not intend to raise beets in 1936. During the last few days it has been reported that this sentiment is changing somewhat and that many growers are considering planting beets with the hope that different contracts will be available next year.

Under present contracts the growers get 45 per cent of the net profit to the sugar company. Growers are reported to have been satisfied with a former contract under which they got 50 per cent.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29. (AP)—California oranges and lemons were generally easier to lower today at eastern and middle western auction centers.

California auction sales averages per box of California citrus were reported to the California Fruit Growers exchange on its own brands, and to the Associated Press on all others, as follows:

BOSTON.—Valencias and navels easier to lower; lemons slightly higher. Saes: 9 cars oranges; 1 lemons.

PROVIDE LOT TO HELP PARKING

County employes will no longer park their automobiles on the streets around the courthouse.

Cooperating in the city's campaign to relieve parking congestion in the downtown area of the city, it was announced today that a large lot at the southeast corner of Sixth and Birch streets had been obtained and opened for use of county employes. Parking space for 40 automobiles has been marked off on the property.

The lot was secured through cooperation of county officials and William Garvin of the city clerk's office.

Coincident with the announcement, Chief of Police Floyd Howard said that in the future tickets will be given for overtime parking around the courthouse. In the past this zone has been eliminated from overtime parking.

CITY HALL'S DEDICATION PLANS SET

Arrangements were virtually completed today for the dedication ceremonies at the new city hall next Tuesday afternoon. The committee headed by Councilman Joseph P. Smith met Wednesday and made final arrangements for the affair.

The program will begin with an overture by the Santa Ana municipal band directed by Leland Auer. It will be followed by the invocation, delivered by the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Mayor Fred C. Rowland will then deliver the address of welcome and Mr. Smith will introduce honored guests.

Allison Honer, commander of post 131, American Legion, will present an American flag to the city on behalf of the Legion. It will be accepted for the city by Councilman William Penn. Placing of a plaque telling about the building will be in charge of Native Sons of the Golden West.

The main address will be delivered by Harlan Skillen, grand president of the Native Sons order in California. The speech will be followed by the benediction by Father Galvin. Following the ceremony the building will be open for inspection.

BURKE HONORED BY ASSOCIATES

In parting tribute to J. Frank Burke, retiring editor of the Santa Ana Register, the editorial department of the Register honored him at a dinner party Tuesday night at the Laguna Beach hotel.

Feted with the editor were Mrs. Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Loyal King and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Moon. Mr. King was formerly business manager and then associate editor of the paper, while Mr. Moon was Mr. Burke's secretary.

Mason Yould, who was appointed editor of the Register to succeed Mr. Burke on sale of the remaining stock of the newspaper to H. C. Hoiles and son, R. C. Hoiles, last week, was master of ceremonies.

A leather billfold and key case was presented Mr. Burke from the staff. The honor guest accepted the gift in a short talk of appreciation and farewell to the staff.

Marking each place of the guests was an eight-column one-page edition, called "The Ramrod," which had been published by A. B. Berry, editor of "The Independent," Highlights of the Register's history under Mr. Burke were featured in the paper.

EXCHANGE TO DISBURSE REFUNDS

More than $900,000 will be disbursed during November and December to local associations of the California Fruit Growers exchange. This money represents the difference between the normal retain set up at the beginning of the season, and the actual marketing costs of the central organization during the past year.

An announcement from the exchange said these refunds are either passed on directly to growers or applied against operating costs of the association.

In addition to this amount, approximately $40,000 was paid to associations in September, as dividends on the association blanket compensation policy, and a like amount will shortly be disbursed directly to growers participating in the growers blanket policy. Also another $750,000 will be refunded to member associations by Fruit Growers Supply company at the end of its fiscal year, the exchange said.

TO OPEN WATER BONDS OFFICE

Headquarters for the Orange county flood control bond campaign will open next Monday at 109 West Sixth street. This was announced Wednesday following a meeting of the executive committee representing the citizens committee which is furthering the water program.

Further additions to the executive committee are contemplated, it also was announced. The finance committee is receiving voluntary contributions for the campaign. The campaign will be featured by personal solicitation of voters. L. H. Hoskins, Anaheim rancher, will be in charge of the campaign.

Organizations will be set up in each town. In each consolidated precinct a worker will be responsible for contacting every registered voter.

Scanning New Books

By VERNA RAMSEY

LORD OF CREATION, by Frederick Lewis Allen.

The story of the evolution of financial power in the United States is an exciting one. As told by the author of "Only Yesterday" it becomes doubly fascinating.

In a sense the book is the story of Wall street and all that it represented. In another sense it is the story of the American upper class. In a broader sense it is the story of the economic changes which led inevitably to the crash of 1929 and the lean years of the thirties. In telling this Mr. Allen translates the technicalities of economics into the events of a story of human adventure.

Here are Insull and the Van Sweringens and Giannini building their extraordinary empires. Wiggins and Mitchell are seen enjoying the gorgeous opportunities of the Seven Fat Years. Hoover and Roosevelt are shown struggling to save the country from disaster. It is a story full of drama, incident and revelation. Mr. Allen's history provides an illuminating introduction to this morning's front-page news.

HERITAGE, by George F. Hummel.

Norwold, Long Island was a hidebound little village which was really an outpost of New England. With the coming of the railroad in 1846 things began to change. The railroad brought a new type of inhabitant; of which the Wellers, sturdy German immigrants, were the shining lights.

To this family twin sons are born. George and Henry Weller and Beth Beebe about whom they quarreled are the central figures. George Hummel has written a full-blooded story, rich in episode and human understanding of the lives of these brothers, their loves, their hates, their ambitions. In portraying the men, women, rocks, and fields he has known since childhood he has contributed a lasting volume to the authentic epic of our country.

OTHER RECENT BOOKS

BRIGHT MEXICO, by Larry Barretto. Small anecdotes of the trip, personal reactions to places seen and occasional reflections upon Mexican civilization claim Mr. Barretto's and the reader's delighted attention.

THE WILLOUGHBYS, by Alice Brown. How the Willoughbys, father and daughter, face and solve their particular problems is the theme of this subtly religious story.

PEOPLE'S KING, by John Buchan. This is a sketch of British history during the 25 years of the reign of George V, seen somewhat as the king himself might recall it.

PATHS OF GLORY, by Humphrey Cobb. From a knowledge of war gained with a Canadian regiment on the western front, Mr. Cobb writes a story of the French army that is a powerful translation of general fact into particularized fiction.

TEN THOUSAND PUBLIC ENEMIES, by Courtney Ryley Cooper. The workings of the division of investigation of the department of justice are here described in a lively, entertaining account.

IN THE SHADOW OF LIBERTY, by Edward Corsi. The story of Ellis Island is told by an immigrant American who later became the United States commissioner of immigration at the island.

CHICHI, by Rachel Grant. This is a lightly satirical novel upon the making of an authoress.

FRANCIS THE FIRST, by Francis Hackett. This is a full-length biography of Francis I, whom Mr. Hackett calls the "most typical Frenchman," portrayed against the background of his times.

TOOLS OF TOMORROW, by Jonathan Norton Leonard. This is the history of power, metals and machines, their past and present compared with what their future may be.

TO NOVA SCOTIA, by Thomas Morris Longstreth. Beginning at Halifax, the writer and his companion made the circuit of the shores of Novia Scotia and Cape Breton Island.

KILLER'S LIST INCREASES IN OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 29. (AP) Burial of Chester Comer today with his supposed guilty knowledge of the fate of possibly 19 missing persons spurred efforts of investigators to pierce the mysteries unaided.

The name of Quinn R. Beavers, 55, Pontotoc county farmer, last seen in Ada a week ago, was added to the list of the missing. Meanwhile parents of Comer's first wife, Elizabeth Childers Comer, said a picture of the girl found slain near Kansas City, Kas., a year ago resembled their daughter.

Comer, young hitch-hiking gunman, allegedly admitted killing several persons and hiding their bodies after he was wounded and captured at Blanchard last Monday.

BETTER AVOCADO RETURNS REPORTED

That last season's record crop created an eager national appetite for avocados is revealed in returns received this week by growers having fruit in the October marketing pool of the Calavo Growers of California. October and September supplies, the smallest of the calendar year, returned the year's highest unit prices to the grower.

For fruit in the October marketing period, growers netted from $3.01 per 13-pound packed flat on Calavo Fuertes, to $2.77 for Calavo Puebla[s] $2.53 for Group "B" Fuerte[s] average of the entire [c]rop excluding windfalls which [ra]n mostly $1.10 per flat, w[hi]ch, or over double that of a ye[ar] ago. These returns do not include revolving funds. A total of 9416 packed boxes were marketed.

WILL ROGERS, JR., BUYS SECOND BEVERLY NEWSPAPER

BEVERLY HILLS, Nov. 29. (AP) Will Rogers, jr., 23-year-old son of the late actor-humorist, was in complete control of the newspaper field in this community today.

The Stanford graduate recently purchased a majority interest in the Beverly Hills Citizen and last night announced the acquisition of Town Topics, a weekly publication. Announcing he saw no reason for continuing issue of the weekly, young Rogers planned to transfer its assets to The Citizen.

Radio Roundup
TONIGHT'S PROGRAMS

By HOMER CANFIELD

IT'S "BIG NAMES" THAT command attention. That is why "Hollywood Hotel" invariably makes the headlines Friday nights and the basic reason for the show's success. For when two such screen personalities as ex-platinum blond Jean Harlow and Spencer Tracy address the microphone, it just can't be ignored—they're "big names." It seems like really something even though as radio entertainers their work represents an unknown value. (KHJ, 6-7)

Scenes from their latest flicker, "Riff Raff," will be re-enacted. Dick Powell has an arrangement entitled "Rhythm vs. Romance," in which he and Frances Langford, supported by Anne Jamison and Igor Gorin, will debate (vocally) the respective merits of hot and sweet tunes.

PREVIEW

Miss Langford has a quality that commands attention. "Personal appeal" describes it. She's come a long ways since her first appearance on "Hollywood Hotel." Working with Raymond Paige has undoubtedly been a forwarding factor. He knows how to back up a singer.

FOOTBALL STILL plays a strong role. Those interested in the Army-Navy classic tomorrow shouldn't miss hearing what coaches Tom Hamilton and Gar Davidson have to say tonight, KFI-NBC, 5:30 to 6, about their respective teams.

The game, played at Philadelphia, comes over both networks tomorrow morning, starting at 10:15 o'clock. Ted Husing takes his usaul stand at the KHJ-CBS mike, and Bill Slater reports for KFI-NBC.

CLASSIC

At the conclusion of this game, approximately 1 p. m., the networks will cut to the Texas Christian-Southern Methodist contest at Fort Worth, Tex. This highlight of the south will be broadcast only in part as the local network outlets have contracted to carry our west coast game—U. C. L. A.-Idaho and St. Mary's Washington State.

The former, at Los Angeles, will be covered by KFI, KFWB, KNX and KFAC starting at 2 o'clock. KHJ brings the latter from San Francisco at 1:45 p. m.

The Yale-Princeton, although being broadcast, will not come to the west or be released on any dialable station for local listeners.

KISSING NON-STOP BUT AUTO HALTS

VIENNA, Nov. 29. (AP)—Kissing while driving a car usually has consequences.

In the case of a Vienna banker, who returned from one of the wine places near Vienna with a blond companion, the non-stop kissing steered his car straight into a lamp-post. The girl lost four teeth.

When the case came to court, the banker defended himself by saying that the girl began the kissing and while she had him overpowered, the accident occurred.

The court seemed to feel sorry for the poor man; sentence was suspended and the girl, who had meanwhile sued the banker for $3000 damages, had to be satisfied with a new set of teeth.

Movies, Japanese and western, were seen by 244,000,000 persons in Japan last year, or by 19,000,000 more than in 1933.

MORE ABOUT ROOSEVELT

ernment would have to go further into debt."

"I asked them what they thought the maximum national debt of the United States could rise to without serious danger to the national credit," he said.

"Their answers, remembering this was in the spring of 1933, were that the country could safely stand a national debt of between 55 and 70 billion dollars."

He said he replied he had no intention then or now of permitting such a debt.

The gross national debt under the Hoover administration, he said, rose from a little over 17 billion dollars to 21 billions. Since he took office on March 4, 1933, he added, the national debt has risen from 21 billions to 29½ billions.

Included in this figure, he explained, is nearly 1½ billion dollars of working balance in the treasury and nearly 4½ billions of recoverable assets which he said the government would get back over a period of years.

"The credit of the government is today higher than that of any other great nation in the world, in spite of attacks on that credit made by those few individuals and organizations which seek to dictate to the administration and to the congress how to run the national treasury and how to let the needy starve."

There was no specific promise to end relief or to ban new taxes, but the President said:

"I see clear signs of a revival of material prosperity in country and in city," and "I sense a swelling prosperity of the spirit that spells a greater help and a deeper happiness for our fellow men."

Mentioning that "gentlemen in well warmed and well stocked clubs will discourse on the expenses of government and the suffering that they are going through" because of government spending, he remarked:

"I wish I could take some of these men out on the battle line of human necessity and show them the facts that we in the government are facing."

Referring to the federal employment, Mr. Roosevelt said that "aside from the tremendous increase in morale through substituting work for a dole, there is the practical side of permanent material benefit."

He pointed to a vast sum clearance project within sight of the oval stadium of Georgia Tech as one of the "useful" government constructions and referred to the numerous road and school building constructions and to the Civilian Conservation Corps among the many federal undertakings in making jobs.

"American life has improved in these two years and a half," he concluded, "and if I have anything to do with it, it is going to improve more in the days to come."

Referring to increases in wheat from 32 cents to 90 cents a bushel in the last three years and of cotton from 4½ cents to 12 cents a pound, he continued:

"I wonder what cotton would be selling at today if during these past three years we had continued to produce 15 or 16 or 17 million bales each year, adding to our own surplus, adding to the world surplus, and driving the cotton farmers of the South into bankruptcy and starvation?"

HITLER'S GIFT SHOES WORN BY RECRUITS

BERLIN, Nov. 29. (AP)—Marching feet of 1000 sturdy army recruits will wear and tear one of Der Fuehrer's many presents.

In a solemn ceremony 1000 pairs of heavy black leather boots, which the German shoemakers' guild gave Adolf Hitler in recognition of his rearmament of the reich, were turned over to the Berlin garrison.

HOMES FOR SALE 61 | HOMES FOR SALE 61

First of all, there is excellent architectural precedent and design. The appointments and details include those important elements that distinguish a home, are just as correct and authentic as they can possibly be.

Then, too, it is extremely compact and well planned, performing the living requirements of any home in an efficient and economical manner. The fact that all portions of the house are on one level, makes it a practical design for any section of the county and can be had, including the lot for $4500.

Financed the Government way, your monthly payment should not exceed $38.00 per month, principal, interest, taxes and insurance. We are in a position to assist you in arranging this excellent 5-room house.

ARE WE SOLVENT?

"WE WERE insolvent; now we are solvent."

That was the crux of President Roosevelt's homecoming address in Georgia Tech's football stadium at Atlanta, Ga., today.

"Your government," he continued, "says to you: 'You cannot borrow your way out of debt; but you can invest your way into a sounder future.' "

And thereupon the President again brought down upon his head the wrath of the economists, one of whom said the other day that if one were to get $24 a minute for his services it would take him 2000 years to earn the money the government has spent in the last three years.

But, the President continued, the present national debt of 29½ billions is in no way comparable to the sum the bankers who visited him in Washington during the crisis of 1933, said would be safe.

"I asked them (the bankers) what they thought the maximum national debt of the United States could rise to without serious danger to the national credit," said the President. "Their answers, remembering this was in the spring of 1933, were that the country could safely stand a national debt of between 55 and 70 billion dollars."

EITHER the President is drawing the long bow or the bankers and the rest of the economists have miscalculated, because most of the reactionary money interests will tell you today it won't be long until we are hauling our money around on hayracks to take care of every-day expenditures.

President Roosevelt anticipated the challenge to his statement with the further assertion that the credit of the government today is higher than any other great nation in the world.

One must admit, if he is informed and honest in his conclusions, that this moment finds us in rather substantial shape as far as material uplift is concerned. We are doing a bit of loud crying over the pyramiding debt, it is true, but even that has its bright side when we think of the gradual improvement in business and the tremendous upturn in national morale. We at least have some sort of a program, present and future, and we have maintained the form of government we started out with, while the world about us has turned topsy turvy.

AMERICAN life has improved and American institutions have been preserved under the Roosevelt administration. The President's critics will say this happened in spite of the administration; his friends will say it was forced by the New Deal.

Probably we never shall return to the days prior to 1929. Probably, too, we shall always have a great army of men for whom there is no work under private industry. The human side of the picture must come before the material. The bankers and the industrialists probably will never be happy out loud again, but most of them are keeping open house today, while a lot of them had nailed up the windows a few years ago.

MR. HOOVER'S PROGRAM

(From Christian Science Monitor)

BY HIS speech before the Ohio Society in New York, former President Hoover strongly confirmed the remark of more than one political observer that "he may not be a candidate, but he certainly acts like one."

In fact he acted very much like the kind of a candidate both his friends and his critics have told him he would have to be in order to make a serious bid for the nomination for the Presidency in 1936. His phrases were crisp, vivid, often pungent and satirical—a greatly popularized type of challenge to the administration. He crystallized his opposition into a program of specific affirmative policies which he set up against those of the Roosevelt regime. And in all this he showed himself possessed of the political touch which, as "the great engineer," he had been chided for lacking.

It is one of the finest of political arts to frame a program that has all the sound of steel-hard definiteness and which yet contains unobtrusive qualifiers that give it much or little meaning according to the ear of the hearer. Or, entirely apart from artifice, it is extremely difficult to formulate a political program with the definiteness one might desire.

For instance, when Mr. Hoover says, "The waste of taxpayers' money on unnecessary public works should end," many could reply, "Of course unnecessary public works should stop, but just what works are necessary and which unnecessary, especially when millions still are unemployed?"

When he demands that the government return relief responsibility to local agencies, he asks only what the administration is endeavoring mightily to do. When he speaks of rooting out the hordes of political bureaucracy, he strikes a tenderer subject, but one in which his own party is not entirely blameless. As for moving toward a balanced budget by means of economies, all indications are that this is President Roosevelt's course. As for re-establishing a gold standard, Secretary Morgenthau has spoken in favor at least of an international stabilization of currencies, and that is probably as much as is now feasible.

Mr. Hoover's hearers and readers, however, will not mistake the general purport of his program. It is clear that he would follow a harder rule of financial orthodoxy all up and down the line, from debatable reductions in relief to stopping the wholly indefensible silver purchases. Yet it is significant that the effectiveness of his criticisms as campaign issues depends not so much on what the administration proposes to do but upon whether it succeeds in the retrenchments it has promised itself.

Thoughts while strolling: For a play or novel title: "Take a Letter!" Norman Kerry with rings in the ears, knife in his teeth and a red turban would make a grand pirate. What became of the ukulele? Rather expect Laurette Taylor to have an Irish brogue. Study hoity - toity: Elsie de Wolfe.

Look alikes: Larry Waterbury and the late Holbrook Blinn. For oblivion: People who return borrowed books without the jacket. Picalili would be a good revue name. I know a fellow named Montmorency Fortesque who doesn't act important. Frank Case's daughter Margaret is turning in some fine essays.

Memory: Black jack chewing gum in white paper with tasseled ends. Mark Twain was the only writer to look his part. Never found a newspaperman who didn't swear by Keats Speed. Those well-barbed worldings who flock to Jack Doyle's billiard hall in the late afternoon.

Marble - in - the - mouth name: Rouben Mamoulian. Mary Lewis almost as thin as in her follies days. Channing Pollock is beginning to suggest the English squire. And only yesterday he was the boy critic of Washington, D. C. Every other girl looks like Katharine Hepburn these days.

Frank Craven is a sterling actor virtually reared in one of those brass-bossed trunks labeled "Theater." But he left the stage flat a few years ago for the rose-bowered serenity of Hollywood. He was through, boys, he was through! What had Broadway to compare to the spacious lawn, sensibly houred breakfasts in a sunny patio, a kennel of affectionate dogs, an early swing of the golf course under a golden-wooled sky and bed at a reasonable hour? That was the substance of his gurgle to visiting friends. Yet like the bad penny he's back in the three-fold capacity of directing, dramatizing and acting on the Rialto once more. And as happy as a lark.

They still call comic strips The Funnies but it strikes many that in the past few years they have completely changed pace, with the usual exceptions, of course. They now feature do and dare Horatio Algerisms, Martian dramas and continued detective tales. Thus netting grown-ups, too. Only Krazy Kat, bless him, carries his brick for the climactic pow! I was interested today in a 12-year-old who is following 11 different sequences and knew exactly where each left off.

Ernest Hemingway revealed in his African book he does not smoke. And attrbiutes an astonishing sense of smell largely to this. He was able to scent where animals had lain to sleep in the jungles some time before the trail was picked up. On the other hand Oom Paul Kruger, almost constant pipe smoker, could detect scents long before the most capable hunters. Oscar, the Waldorf chef, did not smoke until he was 60 because he thought it might have some effect on his palate. After he acquired the habit he noted little change.

A salesgirl in a dovetoned perfume salon in the Place Vendome once told me she had become dulled to the aromas she had been handling for more than six years. Many perfumiers suffer this plight. Outside her place her sense of smell was acute, but at her work she could not distinguish one scent from another. So she faked her oo-la-las.

William Gaxton and Victor Moore have gone through one long theatrical run and have finished a year of another, firm friends on and off. Usually such co-starring intimacies cause temperamental upshoots and a feigned friendship for the public only. But they have never had the slightest ruckus. Several times a week they dine together before going to separate dressing rooms. Incidentally, they have become two of the wealthiest players in the legitimate theater.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Those who have been sitting in on some of the conferences between British and American diplomats during the Mediterranean and Far Eastern crises, say that probably never before—not even during the World war—was there such complete understanding and sympathy between the heads of the two English-speaking countries.

Here is one significant illustration of this which has escaped general attention.

When the Canadian treaty was signed it was only natural to expect an outbreak of indignation from the British press. The effect of the treaty virtually was to nullify British empire trade preference in Canada. The lowering of tariffs against U. S. goods meant a definite blow to British sales to the dominion.

Yet there was not a single peep from the British press.

Reason was that the British foreign office, which usually can guide the press in its attitude toward foreign relations, had given it a quiet hint to lay off. The foreign office did not want anything to disturb the new Anglo-American entente.

Reason for this entente is no secret. It accrues from Roosevelt-British fears that Japan will engulf all Eastern Asia, coupled with the knowledge that the British and American navies each is powerless in the Far East without the support of the other.

This is behind the appointment of Under Secretary of State Phillips as a delegate to the London naval conference. Actually, this conference will move more to solidify Anglo-American policy in the Far East than it will to reduce navies.

NOTE—Senator Hiram Johnson has written friends that he will stage one of his old-fashioned League of Nations forensic battles against the Roosevelt neutrality policy or—as he says—lack of it. He claims Roosevelt is taking the United States into the back door of the League of Nations.

BUG EXPERT

"YOU'D be surprised at Rex. He knows a lot about bugs!" says Lee A. Strong, chief bug expert in the department of agriculture.

"A lot of people don't know the difference between the cotton boll weevil and the pink boll worm, but Rex Tugwell does," says Strong. "He knows all kinds of bugs—fruit flies, chinch bugs, grasshoppers, or the wire worms in Walla Walla."

Strong's enthusiasm for Rex Tugwell as an entomologist grows out of a recent trip to Mexico with the undersecretary of agriculture. They drove a thousand miles together from San Antonio over the new highway to Mexico City.

"We took it easy so we could see the countryside. Every once in a while Rex would get out and pick an orange from the orange trees that grow wild in the hills.

"And if he got ahold of an insect, he knew it every time. I tell you, there's nothing amateurish about Tugwell's knowledge of bugs."

NOTE—Though Tugwell's main job is administrator of resettlement, he remains undersecretary of agriculture.

WRITER'S RELIEF

IT IS Harry Hopkin's boast that he has brought new hope to New York's Greenwich Village.

Authors and artists of the "village" have discovered that not all WPA projects were designed for wielders of picks and shovels, and as a result, many a well-known writer has been taken from relief rolls.

Maxwell Bodenheim is one. Harry Kemp is another. Bodenheim was famous in 1925 as the author of the novel, "Replenishing Jessia," and he has published a lot of verse. Kemp is the man who made a trip around the world, starting out with 25 cents, and wrote about it in the book, "Tramping on Life." He also founded the Poet's Theater.

Both men were destitute and on relief, when their old friend Henry Alsberg came along. Alsberg is the man Hopkins picked to manage writers' projects. He is editor-in-chief of The American Guide, a WPA-project on which unemployed authors in every state are collaborating.

Alsberg is excited about the zest he finds among writers who, once famous, are glad to get $93 a month from the government, and work for it.

"I was skeptical at first," he says. "Especially about New York. These fellows we've got are the village rebels, accustomed to work all night and sleep all day. Individualists, all of them. How could we get regular work out of them, give them assignments like newspaper men?

"But I got a surprise. They do it, and like it. They're keen. They have something to do again. Their lives were disorganized, they were going down hill. But now they've got a new hope. I tell you, it's almost pathetic."

THE RUN-AROUND

CALIFORNIA'S Col. William Evans has encountered the "run-around" in Washington.

He came to the capital two weeks ago to sell PWA on the Oxnard (Hueneme) project, and to persuade the President that a summer White House be established on the Pacific coast.

In PWA he got the run-around, from one official sanctum to another. So he stalked over to the White House, shook hands with the President, but said nothing about either of the pet ideas.

Instead, he did the usual stunt of putting them before Marvin McIntyre, presidential secretary.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

HENRY WALLACE has gone far since his corn-breeding days in Iowa. He is teaching himself to appreciate classical music, starting with Beethoven. . . . Henry Alsberg, who heads WPA writers' projects, is himself an author. He adapted into English the Yiddish play, "The Dybbuk," which ran for two years in New York. . . . Lake Titacaca, high in the Andes mountains, will soon be swarming with U. S. fish. Bolivia and Peru have asked the bureau of fisheries to send an expert with a consignment of fish to stock their lake. . . . Among the barter transactions reported by extension workers to the department of agriculwas one in which a woman traded her poultry and eggs for a Bible.

DIZZY DITTIES

I doff my gray fedora
To Uncle Rodman Babbitt;
He's smoked cigars for 20 years
And never got the habit.

Just think! If it weren't for reformers we wouldn't know what a rotten world we're living in.

Ah, well, life has its compensations. Those at the head of the banquet table make the speeches, while those at the foot of the table eat the extra salads.

SONNET TO HER SWEETIE

You ask me do I love you?
You're my very dearest beau,
I really have to love you,
You're the only man I know.

Li'l Gee Gee certainly fooled her brother. Before he borrowed her car for the week-end, she drained all the oil out of the crankcase so he couldn't get very far.

Thys evening, Dame Juice visiting her Aunt Letitia, Little Homer and I do prepare dinner for ourselves, and when we do sit down at table, we do congratulate each other on our vast skill in cookerie, exclaiming "Oh, boy, what a round-steak!" and "By gosh, this do be the tenderest round-steak that ever was eaten!" which do be, in all truth, a greate exaggeration, for Lord! the meate do be scorched, burnt and as tough as a rubber doormat.

Remarkable Remarks

Criminal cases never improve with age.—S. J. Mauhs, special assistant attorney general, New York.

The community is our business. The better and safer and happier we make it, the better our government; it does not make us.—Ida M. Tarbell, noted author.

Students are becoming reluctant to accept the fiat of the instructor as the last word on any subject. The "that's what you think" attitude of the student is becoming more than a slang phrase expressing disbelief.—C. E. Sherman, Providence, Mass., educator.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

What Are Time Zones Between Friends?

CHICAGO withdraws from central time and, defying such barriers as time and lines, puts itself in eastern standard time. The city council has so decreed, effective next year.

Irate citizens storm the council's chambers in protest against the unholy action. You can't do such blasphemous things, they say, and besides it's mighty hard getting up an hour earlier on winter mornings.

BY THIS step Chicago business interests show that economics is stronger than flight of time. This move puts Chicago financial centers in tune with the great banking houses of the east. The Windy City cuts its ties with midwestern centers and throws its financial lot with New York.

Rumor puts the credit for this stroke on the political strength of the city's largest morning newspaper, which gets the jump on the eastern financial and market reports. Evening papers are thereby outdone.

THE STANDARD time zones were adopted by the railroads in 1883 adopted by the railroads cmfwyp for their own convenience. With financial and economic interests changing as the years go by the old arbitrary lines may be shifted more and more. An hour's difference in time may be a considerable factor when enormous transfers of capital are in transit.

But Chicago may be counted on to do strange things. Some time ago Chicagoans were excited over the possibility of seceding from Illinois and establishing themselves as the forty-ninth state in the union.

THIS whole matter of tinkering with the clock seems more than silly. Daylight saving is an attempt to save ourselves from our own slothfulness and love of ease.

Nothing prevents anybody from saving all the daylight he wants to. If he must have some higher decree save it for him the saving is of doubtful value. Among civilized man's many enslavements is that of being tied to a ticking clock.

MODERN life runs more and more into regulated lines. Freed from drudgery by the whirring machine, man binds himself with social chains. The deadening stamp of uniformity is on his brow. Writing a declaration of independence neatly in a book, he has banished it from his heart.

As he mounts in mastery over rugged nature he slips more deeply into the indistinguishable social mass.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Around and About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

Car with the "live and let live" sticker selects one of the busiest corners to make a U-turn—that is the driver did. Maybe it was because the sticker was on the rear window instead of directly in front of the operator. Passing autoists used the horn with frequency and intensity to warn the U-turner that the procedure was hardly an exemplification of the safety slogan. Through the care exercised by the other fellows an accident was avoided. I didn't say it was a woman driver.

Harry Ball wanted to know why I didn't go through the city hall with a Rotary delegation, and Chief of Police Howard acquainted me with the location of the police department, but then said, oh, never mind, the boys'll bring you in soon enough. If it were not for the tragic history of penthouses I'd try and rent the place. Otherwise the city hall is just a city hall, and not Birch park.

The best items coming my way are often the ones which cannot appear. Not necessarily because they would entail a violation of the postal laws, but they might create some domestic complications, bust up a love affair, or disturb a business situation. Often my informants start out with a most interesting incident. They get me up on a pinnacle, and then send me down without a parachute. Why, I get enough material every day to make one of those risque magazines look like an angel of mercy going through the slums. But, people will talk about things we can't print.

The insurance business is not regarded as a bed of roses. So when a client sent a letter to a certain local concern and addressed it to the H—— Endurance Company, it wasn't so far out of line with the general opinion.

Jim McCain, who has started on a visit to the old haunts in Arkansas and Texas, may get back home, but he's got to know his man if he talks to him the way he said he was going to, and does get back alive. Jim said there is a 30-mile branch line running out of a small Arkansas town, going no place. He gets off there and packs about 30 more miles where they have razorback hogs. He expects to find someone he used to know, if the hogs haven't disposed of 'em. Assuming that he will get out of Arkansas alive, he then goes into Texas where he knows a chief of police and several court officials. If "Mac" gets back in three weeks time I'll admit he knew his men.

Bill Iverson is home from Wisconsin with a car and a turkey. My understanding is he paid for the car. And what do you think that turkey did? Bill got the bird as far as the desert and the old boy didn't like the scenery so he started back to Wisconsin, with Bill a close second. The turkey got his feet tangled up in the sage brush, so the recapture was not difficult for a fellow who knows his sage. The theme song for Thursday, so far as Bill's concerned, was: "Happy Days Are Here Again."

Mayor Tom Talbert and Justice of the Peace Patton of Huntington Beach came over to Santa Ana a few nights ago to help some other convivial souls retrospect the political romance of Orange county. The revealed methods of those days, not dishonest, but spectacular and often mysterious, are now being unfolded even to the amusement of those who sometimes fell victim to the manipulation. It's great tonic to listen to the stories of the astute politicians of that time who insist they were then and are now only "dirt farmers." But they make excellent campaign managers.

Well, after dinner I took a slant at the old bird and he looked like a wrecked airplane. The wings were broken, fuselage damaged, and landing gear missing. About all that was left which looked like the original machine was the neck and that portion which is always trying to get better acquainted with the neck. There may have been other food on the table than turkey and cranberry sauce, but I couldn't see it, or use it. You know a turkey has a right to be proud. The brevity of his career justifies his aristocracy. His days are numbered, and so far as I'm concerned let him strut his stuff. He'll get it in the neck later.

In about three days all of the turkey will be gone and we can center our minds and obligations on Christmas. By that time you may decide you want another turkey. However, some other purchases should come before you consider your stomach as the chief objective. You won't enjoy Christmas even if you have a full stomach if you fail those who are expecting you to cheer their hearts. So if you fill your stomach at the expense of someone's happiness, I hope the doctor gets to you when he can't help any.
